OVER 11,000 GERMANS TAKEN AND BRITONS STILL STRIKING

Argentina Goes Against Germany

BRAZIL AND PERU WITH GUATEMALA FOR UNITED STATES

Chile, However, Has Informed Washington That She Has Decided to Remain Neutral in the World War.

SOME SURPRISE CAUSED BY DECISION OF CHILE

Mexico Will Also Remain Neutral, But Her Decision Will Have Little Influence on Countries That Have Not Yet Decided.

Buenos Aires, April 10.—The government issued a declaration late this evening announcing that it supported the position of the United States in reference to Germany.

The declaration was made known to the public through bulletins posted throughout the city and caused a great sensation. Enthusiastic crowds marched through the streets and the university students organized pro-ally demonstrations. Some of the newspapers say that high officers of the army assert that the military mobilization of Argentina will follow that of Brazil.

BRAZIL BREAKS WITH GERMANY.

Rio Janeiro, April 10.—At a cabinet council today it was decided that Brazil should sever her relations with Germany.

Switzerland will take charge of Brazilian interests at Berlin.

Brazil has recognized the new government of Russia.

GUATEMALA ON GUARD AGAINST THE GERMANS.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, April 10.—Martial law has been declared in Guatemala. The action was taken on information of disturbances along the Mexican and Salvadorean frontiers, supposed to have been created with German assistance.

CHILE DECIDES ON NEUTRALITY.

Washington, April 10.—Much of the uncertainty as to Latin-America's attitude in the war between the United States and Germany was cleared away today by definite advices that Chile and Mexico will remain neutral and increasing indications that Brazil, Argentina, Guatemala and Peru will join Cuba and Panama on the side of the United States.

The decision of Chile, the first of the American republics to announce her neutrality, caused some surprise among officials here. In many quarters it had been expected that she eventually would break with the Berlin government, but would postpone her decision until advised definitely of the course of Argentina and Brazil, the other members of the influential A. B. C. group in South America. What effect her stand will have on the smaller nations of the continent is a matter of much speculation.

No Surprise About Mexico.

Mexico's decision, on the other hand, caused no surprise and is regarded as certain to have little influence with her sister republics. Reports that General Carranza was softening to a distinct pro-American attitude have not been credited by officials here, and neither have they believed widely circulated stories that he was preparing to ally himself openly with Germany (information as to his decision reached

MEN NOT IN ARMY TO BE MOBILIZED FOR FARM LABOR

Measure Is Proposed by the Conference of Agricultural Experts Called by Secretary Houston.

U. S. FOOD COMMISSION URGED BY CONFERENCE

This Commission Would Fix Prices and Control Distribution — Recommendations Also Made as to Crops.

St. Louis, April 10.—Immediate mobilization of the nation's men who do not meet the qualifications for active military service for use in producing farm products is one of the measures to be taken to solve the food problem of the United States, in the opinion of delegates to the farm conference of agricultural experts, which closed a two-day session here late this afternoon.

The conference, called by David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, was composed of heads of agricultural schools and officers of farm boards from all states except New England and the Pacific coast.

Four committees were named to deal with various phases of the food question and their findings were turned over to a central committee of fifteen, which reported to the entire conference.

Regarding the mobilization of farm labor, the report says that plans for public defense should include provisions for an adequate food supply for civilians and soldiers as well as for enlisting men to go to the front. Not including the number of persons ejected for physical defects, the report says there are more than 2,000,000 boys between the ages of 15 and 19 in the cities who are not engaged in any productive work vital to the nation.

The plan of military enlistment, it is urged, should be operated to utilize for agricultural labor, manufactures of munitions or other national service.

First, men beyond military age; second, men of military age, but not accepted for active service, and third, boys under age for enlistment.

Recommendations as to Crops.

Other recommendations include: The production of a normal cotton crop by intensive cultivation rather than by increasing the acreage.

Increasing corn acreage and substituting sorghum crops in districts where wheat has been killed.

Increasing areas planted to navy beans, Mexican and tepary beans, buckwheat, barley, oats, potatoes, sweet potatoes and peanuts.

Formation of boys and girls' clubs for the purpose of encouraging gardening.

The establishment of municipal drying and canning establishments.

Increase in the animal products and enlargement of the milk production one-fourth by intelligent feeding.

The increase of pork production and doubling poultry production within a year by careful feeding methods.

In order that distribution of mature crops might be best effected, it was suggested that the department of agriculture, co-operating with the state departments of agriculture and other agencies at once mobilize sufficient farm labor to meet all emergencies.

A thorough survey of the food, labor and other resources of the country is asked.

It is urged that power be conferred upon the secretary of agriculture in co-operation with the federal trade commission to obtain the necessary data on the nation's food outlook so that congress may legislate suitably for the protection of the people. Furthermore, the reports ask that authority be given the secretary of agri-

TUESDAY A BUSY DAY FOR RECRUITING OFFICERS

DEATH LIST OF 150 LIKELY TO RESULT FROM EXPLOSION

112 Now Dead and Many of the Injured Will Die. Victims Mostly Women and Girls.

EXPLOSION AN ACCIDENT, DETECTIVES DECLARE

But Rumors of Plots Are Numerous — 30,000 Shrapnel Shells in Building Destroyed by Explosion.

Chester, Pa., April 10.—One hundred and twelve persons, most of them women and girls, are known to have lost their lives and 121 were injured by a series of terrific explosions today in the shrapnel building of the Eddystone Ammunition corporation at Eddystone, one mile from Chester. Many of the injured were fatally hurt and it is feared the final death list will reach 150.

How any of the three hundred or more employees in the building, in which was stored approximately 30,000 shells, escaped, is a mystery, as there was scarcely a fragment of the structure left intact. Fire added to the horror and most of the bodies were so badly charred that identification was impossible.

Rumors of plots and arrests were numerous after the disaster, but all lacked confirmation. Detectives reported the explosion apparently was purely accidental and advanced the theory that shrapnel placed near a radiator might have caused it. An official of the company, however, said there never was more than half a ton of powder in the building and that this never was in bulk.

The explosion occurred about 10 o'clock in what is known as the "10-F" building, a two-story structure, 75x300 feet. In this building time fuses were prepared, more than 80 per cent of the workers being women and girls. Probably 50 men and boys were employed in the building at the time of the blast and most of them escaped.

The utmost confusion followed the explosion. A heavy pall of smoke darkened the entire town which has a population of about 5,000, but this was soon lightened by the flames from the burning building.

Rescue Squads Formed.

Rescue squads formed and a call for assistance was sent to Philadelphia, Chester, Wilmington and other nearby points.

The entire Chester fire department responded and ambulances from Philadelphia and Chester were soon at the scene.

A strong guard of Pennsylvania militiamen and cadets from the Pennsylvania Military academy was thrown around the plant and every one except those assisting in the rescue work were forbidden to approach.

Fifteen minutes after the explosion the dead and injured were being taken out. Several bodies were fished out of the marshes two hundred yards from the destroyed building and it is feared that others may have been blown into the river, still farther away.

Some of the injured were temporarily cared for in buildings of the ammunition company while scores of homes at Eddystone and nearby towns were thrown open to others. At one residence in Ridley Park, thirty-five persons in a state of collapse from shock and hysteria were given attention.

There were numerous instances of

RECORDER BLAMED BY POLICE BOARD

Commissioner Inman Says Johnson Allows Violators of Traffic Ordinance to Escape With Nominal Fines. Two Officers Discharged.

Recorder George Johnson was taken to task by members of the police board last night when the Recorder was charged by several commissioners and Police Chief W. M. Mayo with not cooperating with the city police department in the enforcement of traffic laws and the proper punishment of misdemeanors in his court.

Commissioner Edward Inman, of the eighth ward, backed up by Commissioner J. Lee Barnes, blamed Recorder Johnson for fining autoists, as he said, guilty of flagrant violations of the traffic laws only $1.75, in most cases, and bad criminals, in some instances, only $15.75, where former recorders, it was said, would have imposed stockade sentences and heavy fines.

Commissioner Inman declared that the result was that Atlanta policemen had discontinued enforcing the traffic laws, and the traffic situation was becoming unbearable.

"I have had a talk with Judge Johnson," he said, "and the Judge has promised me hereafter to fine persons guilty of traffic violations more than $1.75.

His resolution to instruct Chief Mayo to enforce the traffic laws then carried unanimously.

Two Added to Force.

In view of the fact that the morning watch has been going on duty from ten to fifteen men short each day, due to the recent order of the board abolishing the substituting of supernumary policemen to fill the places of absentees, Commissioner Styron introduced a resolution proposing to allow the captain of the morning watch to begin using the supernumaries again.

"These times are perilous," said the commissioner from the sixth. "We need our properties guarded more now than ever. No watch should go out without its full quota of men, especially the morning watch."

Instead of passing Commissioner Styron's resolution, a compromise was struck by adding two more policemen to the force, to fill places now vacant.

Two Are Fired.

Policeman Howard Austin was discharged on charges of "drunkenness." The vote stood 10 to 1 against him.

Patrolman Womack, who recently spent several weeks in the Fulton county jail because he refused to pay his wife, whom he is now suing for divorce, temporary alimony, was also discharged from the force because, it was alleged he had carried another woman to ride on a street car, and because of other charges concerning him. Of the eleven commissioners present, six voted to discharge him and five, led by Mayor Candler, voted to dismiss the charges. Later Barnwell, from the ninth ward, who had voted with Mayor Candler in favor of Patrolman Womack, cast his ballot to discharge Womack. This made the required majority of seven.

It is probable that Patrolman Womack's attorneys will make a fight in the courts to have him restored.

German Is Convicted.

Jersey City, N. J., April 10.—The jury which tried Fritz G. Kolb, a German, on a charge of having bombs in his room in a Hoboken hotel, brought in a verdict of guilty today. Sentence was deferred.

The jurors were unable to agree in the case of Hans Schwartz, a German, tried with Kolb on the same charge.

New Order Received by Capt. Heidt Tuesday Will Bring Large Additional Force of Army Officers and Men to Atlanta.

TRAINING IN AVIATION TO BE GIVEN HERE, TOO

Tuesday Broke All Previous Records for Enlistments at Local Stations, the Army Alone Recruiting 110—Sub-Station for Negroes to Be Opened at 40 Walton St.

Washington officials Tuesday designated Fort McPherson, Atlanta, as the southeastern depot army post and directed that all recruits enlisted in the southeastern territory on or after Thursday, April 12, be sent to that fort instead of to Fort Thomas, Ky., the place to which recruits have been sent for some time past.

Captain G. V. Heidt, in charge of the local recruiting station, received instructions Tuesday morning directing the change.

"This makes it necessary," declared Captain Heidt, "for all recruits taken on or after the date given to be sent to the Atlanta fort. I have received no details in regard to the change, but I believe it due to the fact that Fort Thomas is well crowded at present. All those who prefer going to Fort Thomas rather than to the local fort must have their enlistments in before the opening of the offices Thursday morning."

The change will result in the bringing to this city many hundreds of new army men, as well as the establishing here of other branches of the army service, such as an aviation station.

WILL TRAIN AVIATORS HERE.

Many Atlantans, graduates of local schools and colleges as well, as expert mechanicians, are making special efforts to enter the aviation service, and the fact that the primary work of this section of the army will be done at the local fort is expected to result in many more applications for this branch. Just how many men it will bring here is, of course, a matter of pure conjecture. It is safe to say, though, that many hundreds will be stationed in Atlanta until dispatched to active service wherever the government may see fit to send them.

With the change of station will be necessitated the placing in Atlanta of many more regular army officers to care for and train the new men enlisted.

RECORD DAY IN RECRUITING OFFICES.

Tuesday proved the greatest day yet since the declaration of war in numbers of men shipped from Atlanta and Georgia for the various branches of the service. In the army branch more than 110 men were sent off Tuesday night to Fort Thomas. This number, 110, was the number reported at 7 o'clock and the recruiting station in the federal building was filled to capacity at the time with men waiting to be examined and to have the oath administered.

"We are working as hard as we can work getting these men lined up," declared Captain Heidt, "but we are always ready for more. Georgia is coming strong today and if she keeps it up for a while longer at least we will more than furnish our quota of men allotted."

In the marine branch of the service

WILL DOUBLE SIZE OF BIG APARTMENTS

Addition to Ponce de Leon Apartment House Will Be Ready in Twelve Months. Daniel Lot Is Purchased for Addition.

The Fulton Properties company, owners of the Ponce de Leon apartments, on yesterday purchased from Daniel Bros. Co. a lot immediately adjoining the apartments, fronting 80 feet on Ponce de Leon avenue and running back 130 feet to an alley.

The consideration for the purchase was $25,000 cash and other considerations, and the deed effecting the transfer of the property was filed of record on yesterday. The transaction of sale was handled through M. L. Thrower, the well-known real estate agent.

R. S. Lang, secretary of the Fulton Properties company, stated that plans will immediately be prepared for the erection of an annex to the Ponce de Leon apartments, practically duplicating the present building and to be operated under the same management.

The Ponce de Leon apartments, containing 254 rooms, was designed by W. L. Stoddart, of New York, and erected by the George A. Fuller Co., contractors, three years ago. The building was constructed as an improvement upon the latest models of apartment house construction, and in the cost of construction and equipment is in advance of any apartment building in the United States.

Every apartment in the building has been occupied continuously almost since the building was opened to the public, and the demand for space has exceeded the capacity of the building, resulting in a lengthy waiting list which the B. M. Grant-A. S. Adams company, renting agents of the Ponce de Leon apartments, have been unable to satisfy.

The annex will be constructed to meet the requirements of bachelor tenants, and an effort will be made to complete the new building so as to have it ready for occupancy within twelve months.

U. S. ARMOR PLANT NOT FOR GEORGIA

Washington, April 10.—Secretary Daniels will announce tomorrow the site selected for the government armor plate and projectile factories. Three states, Maryland, West Virginia and Kentucky, were found by the inspection board to possess the best locations, and one of them is virtually certain to get the award.

More than 300 cities, scattered throughout the country, were competitors for the plants, and interest in the site chosen has been keen.

Congress has appropriated $11,000,000 for the armor plate plant and $1,700,000 for the projectile factory. Substantial additional amounts probably will be provided before the establishments are completed.

BESIDES PRISONERS GERMANS HAVE LOST OVER 100 BIG GUNS, 163 MACHINE GUNS, 60 TRENCH MORTARS

Notwithstanding Heavy Snowstorm and Strong Resistance by the Kaiser's Troops, British Have Again Hit German Line Hard.

ON TO DOUAI-CAMBRAI, SLOGAN OF THE BRITISH

Advance of General Haig's Forces on Entire Front Rages to a Depth of From Two to Six Miles—Berlin Admits British Gains, and Also Admits That Two German Divisions Suffered "Considerable Losses."

New York, April 10.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—"On the Douai-Cambrai line," evidently is the slogan of the British forces fighting in France. Notwithstanding strong resistance by the Germans and the added handicap of a heavy snowstorm, King George's forces, notably among them the Canadians, have again hit the German line hard at several points for good gains along the front from Vimy southward and also to the west of Cambrai.

Five miles east of Arras the British have reached the suburbs of Monchy-le-Prex and northeast of Arras have cleared out the Germans from the village of Farbus and Farbus wood, while to the immediate north of this sector the Canadians in hard fighting took additional important positions on the famous Vimy ridge and captured prisoners and machine guns. Ten miles west of Cambrai the British have established their line to the north of the village of Louverval.

GREAT LOSSES FOR THE GERMANS.

In the two days' fighting along the front from Lens to the southeast of Arras, the Germans have suffered great losses in men and guns. More than 11,000 prisoners, among them 235 officers, have been taken, and 100 guns, sixty trench mortars and 163 machine guns have fallen into the hands of the British. Some of the larger guns are of 8-inch caliber. The advance of the British over the entire front has been made to a depth of from two to six miles, the penetration being greatest east and southeast of Arras.

The Berlin official communication admits that two German divisions in the fighting near Arras Monday suffered "considerable losses" in stubbornly resisting superior forces. It admits also that the British succeeded in penetrating German positions, but says they did not break through the line.

On that part of the line held by the French reciprocal bombardments continue at various points. No infantry engagement has taken place.

TURKS LOSING IN MESOPOTAMIA.

You Can Find What You Want Quickly--

If your name's in the Phone book it's GOOD on our books

THERE is no end to people's wants. The tremendous increase in Constitution classified advertising confirms this fact daily. The more people learn the wonderful resourcefulness of these little ads, the longer the columns stretch out. The plan we have adopted of alphabetical classification is encouraging more people to advantage themselves in this popular feature of advertising. This plan eliminates endless search, and puts you in immediate touch with exactly what you're after. Take the For Sale Miscellaneous classification, for instance. Thousands of people have things about the home or office or factory or farm they wish to dispose of. Turn to this classification for confirmation of the fact. You'll be amazed at the variety of things for sale. One or more or maybe many things that you would gladly buy, and you can do so profitably. If there is a particular article you want, you will find it starting the ad with its proper letter. Kodaks would start with "K"—Sewing machines would start with "S"—etc., etc. Just look for the letter. If the article is listed, it will be alphabetically listed; not sandwiched between things irrelevant to your search. This makes the want ads quick reading.

Fifty miles northwest of Bagdad the British troops have captured the villages of Balad and Herbe from the Turks and made prisoner nine officers and two hundred men. The machine guns and railway material were taken by the British.

On none of the other fronts has there been any engagements of great importance.

NONE BETTER

Evening up by substitution

Two Atlanta housewives were recently discussing household economics. One of the women had managed things somewhat better than her neighbor, which was disclosed in their discussion of relative experiences. So the lady of the house who had managed best had some really heartening news to tell. She related the fact that a careful comparison of her grocery and market bills for last year and for the same period the months had gone this year, she had really spent less. The same number had been fed, she had had as good food, variety and quality had been sustained, nobody had complained, everybody had been well fed, and in spite of all the clamor about climbing prices she was, up to current date, able to show a saving in her expenditures. "Now, here's the secret," she said. "I've been reading the grocery and market advertising in The Constitution. Not merely reading, but studying it. I have used this advertising as an educational basis for economical practices. It has paid me well to do it. I have found that I could more than 'even up' by substitution. Get as wholesome food, live cheaper, and keep healthier. I have not stopped with reading the food advertising by any manner of means. I've found that the department stores, drug, shoe, clothing and other stores that supply my domestic needs are right along in line with the grocers and markets; and I've been able to save many a dollar reading and profiting by their advertising." This little story is not made up for the occasion, but is based on real facts.

KING CONGRATULATES HAIG AND HIS TROOPS.

London, April 10.—King George sent the following message today to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the British army on the western front:

"The whole empire will rejoice at the news of yesterday's successful operations. Canada will be proud that the taking of the coveted Vimy ridge has fallen to the lot of her troops. I heartily congratulate you and all who have taken part in this splendid achievement."

IN A SNOWSTORM BRITISH CONTINUE TO DRIVE GERMANS

London, April 10.—In the face of heavy snowstorms and in places strong resistance by the Germans, the British have pushed their lines as far as Monchy-le-Prex, five miles east of Arras, and made further important gains on Vimy ridge.

The official statement from British headquarters describing the operations now in progress on the Arras-Lens line reports the capture up to this evening of 11,000 prisoners, including 235 officers, more than 100 guns, including heavy guns up to eight inches, sixty trench mortars and 163 machine guns.

The text reads:

"Our operations have been continued energetically today in spite of heavy snowstorms and generally unfavorable weather. We have reached the outskirts of Monchy-le-Prex, five miles east of Arras, and have cleared Farbus and Farbus wood.

"Hard fighting took place again this afternoon on the northern end of Vimy ridge in which we gained further important positions and took a number of prisoners and machine guns.

"In the direction of Cambrai we advanced our line north of the village of Louverval. Such counter attacks as the enemy attempted at different points along our front met with no success.

"The number of prisoners taken since the opening of our attack yesterday morning now exceeds 11,000, including 235 officers. We also captured over 100 guns, among them a number of heavy guns up to 8 inches calibre, sixty trench mortars and 163 machine guns.

"Our airplanes performed valuable work yesterday in co-operation with our infantry and in a number of cases inflicted casualties with machine gun fire on hostile reinforcements. Bombing expeditions were also carried out, in which a number of hits were obtained upon a large railway station utilized by the enemy.

"As a result of the air fighting three German airplanes were destroyed and four others were brought down. One of our machines is missing."

GERMANS ADMIT HEAVY LOSSES.

Berlin, April 10.—(Via London.)—Regarding the heavy fighting on the western front today's army headquarters statement reports that "the battle near Arras continues."

"The British," continues the statement, "succeeded in penetrating our positions on the roads radiating from Arras, but did not break through."

"In stubbornly resisting the superiority of the enemy," adds the statement, "Two of our divisions suffered considerable losses."

The evening official communication says:

"British attacks delivered after strong artillery fire on the southern bank of the Scarpe failed. On the Aisne front the lively artillery duel continues."

ADVANCE IS MADE BY FRENCH FORCES.

Paris, April 10.—A further advance was made south of the Oise by the French last night, the war office announces. The statement follows:

"North of the Oise the enemy's artillery showed less activity than on preceding days. Patrol encounters and rifle firing in the first lines occurred.

"South of the Oise we made progress east of the lower forest of Coucy. The artillery fighting was rather heavy in the region northeast of Soissons and especially severe in the sector of Laffaux. Southeast of Rheims we repulsed a surprise attack against one of our trenches north of Sillery. Fighting with grenades occurred in the Champagne west of Maisons de Champagne."

The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads:

"North of the Oise the artillery on both sides was active. South of the Oise our batteries destructively shelled German organizations east of Coucy. South of the Ailette river the enemy violently bombarded our positions in the sector of Neuville-Sur-Margival.

"On the left bank of the Meuse, in the direction of Bethincourt, we caught under our artillery fire a train which was completely destroyed.

"In the course of the latest aerial engagements, Sub-Lieutenant Regnier brought down his fifth machine and Adjutant Douchy his sixth.

"Belgian Communication: 'The Belgian artillery took to task various German groups which appeared before the Belgian front. The enemy batteries retaliated with quite spirited fighting in the course of the afternoon.'

"Eastern Theater: Very active artillery fighting took place in the sector of Monastir.

"On the Cerna, after strong artillery preparation with heavy artillery, a German battalion attacked the Russian troops, but was stopped short at the wire entanglements by machine gun fire.

"British aviators bombarded enemy camps at Pravista, in the zone of the Orfano gulf."

Use "Get's-It," Lift Corn Right Off

Shrivels, Loosens—and It's Gone!

"Just like taking the lid off—that's how easy you can lift a corn off your toe after it has been treated with the wonderful discovery, 'Gets-It.' Hunt the wide world over and you'll find nothing so magic, simple and easy as "Gets-It." You folks who have wrapped your toes in bandages to look like bundles, who have used salves that turned your toes raw and sore, and used plasters that would shift from their place and never "get" the corn, and who have dug and picked at your corns with knives and scissors and perhaps made them bleed—just quit these old and painful ways and try "Gets-It" just once. You put 2 or 3 drops on, and it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. You can put your shoe and stocking right on again. The pain is all gone. Then the corn dies a painless, shriveling death, it loosens from your toe, and off it comes. "Gets-It" is the biggest selling corn remedy in the world today. There's none other as good.

BRITISH TURN PIVOT OF HINDENBURG LINE

Haig's Men Pressing Far Beyond Top of Barrier. Germans Amazed by British Audacity and Surrender.

(From a Staff Correspondent of Associated Press.)

With the British Armies in France, April 10.—(Via London.)—The British sweep east of Arras today turned the northern pivot of the famous Hindenburg line and large forces of British troops tonight were pressing far beyond the top of that German barrier, which was prepared after endless months of labor.

The manner in which the British have advanced over scores of German trenches, which the Germans must have believed would protect them indefinitely, has been little short of miraculous. The Germans themselves have been amazed at the audacity of the invaders and has surrendered with an air of complete mystification.

The success of the attack launched yesterday against some of the strongest sections of the German lines on the entire western front seems to prove that the artillery has finally solved the problem of entrenched warfare. It has taken months and years of preparation but when the guns were finally massed against the German front they hammered it into submission.

It was this hammering that demoralized the German lines on the Somme during the winter and brought about the recent retirement of the Hindenburg line stretching from Arras southeastward to St. Quentin. Now the top of this line has been crossed and it is being attacked along the entire distance. The meaning of the airplane activity last week, when the British fliers deliberately set out to clear the air of Germans, has been revealed in the new attacks.

Airmen Cover Advance.

Today the intrepid airmen were covering the advance everywhere, keeping the troops advised of enemy movements and enabling the British artillery to shell every area where concentrations appeared to be taking place. The day was anything but ideal for flying. It was blustery from sunrise to sunset and furious snowsqualls were in the air at half-hour intervals. During these the machines were completely submerged by the snow barrage.

Tonight the Canadians triumphantly announced that the famed Vimy ridge had been cleared of all Germans. Vimy ridge has been a historic battle ground in this war. The country on both sides is dotted with graveyards, in which lie tens of thousands of French and German soldiers who gave up their lives in the fight either to take or to hold this imposing position. The British, too, have tasted of the bitterness of the battles there and the Canadians had been holding onto a slender position on the western slope all winter only by the display of most tenacious courage.

In connection with the new offensive, it was determined that Vimy must fall. The ridge positions had been flayed by an incessant bombardment for ten days and nights, when yesterday at dawn the Canadians climbed out of their lowly trenches and began moving toward the top of it. They fought their way from the foot to the crest before mid-afternoon yesterday; then they swept down the farther slope and now dominate, the enemy remaining in the Douai plains.

Vimy was one of the vaunted German field fortresses and the British find it difficult to imagine any "strategical reasons" that would call for giving it up. More than three thousand Germans in the Vimy garrison, including one hundred officers, fell into Canadian hands before sunset last night.

Germans Beg for Food.

The Canadians did not for a moment underestimate the seriousness of the task before them in taking Vimy. They knew that the artillery had paved the way to success, but were frankly surprised when they saw what the guns had actually done. They found hundreds of Germans holding up their hands over the bodies of their fallen comrades and begging for something to eat.

These men said they had been cut off for days from all supplies by the steadiness of the artillery fire. They could not retire and no relief supply columns from the rear ever reached their neighborhood of where the shells had been falling in continuous showers.

Some of the stronger redoubts had sent most of the German defenders into the deepest of their dugouts and they did not dare venture out until the British called upon them to surrender, which they did precipitately.

Among the officers captured on the ridge were seven lieutenant colonels and also several doctors, who surrendered with all their staffs. Some of the officers were inclined to be sulky, blaming their predicament on the failure of the supports to come up as promised. They were told that the British artillery "had attended to that." Others of the officers were deeply depressed. Hundreds of prisoners taken were found lying in the assembly tunnels from which they had attempted to reach the front line, but could not emerge on account of the shell fire.

BRITISH TROOPS DRIVING THE TURKS NORTH OF BAGDAD

London, April 10.—The British have made a further advance north of Baddad, the war office announces. They have captured the Balad station on the Bagdad-Samarah railway, and the town of Herbe.

The statement follows:

"The Turkish forces which in the communique issued on April 6 were reported retiring in the direction of Kifri are now apparently contemplating a converging movement in conjunction with the Turkish troops on the left bank of the Tigris against our forces in the area between the Adheim and Diala rivers, while containing the Russian detachments on the upper reaches of the latter river. Our troops on April 8 were reported to be in contact with advanced Turkish detachments on the line, Garfa-Dely Abbas and to be in possession of the left bank of the Adheim.

"On the same day we captured the Balad station on the Bagdad-Samarah railway about fifty miles north northwest of Bagdad, and Herbe, four miles north of Balad, was occupied on the morning of April 9. During the operations on April 8 nine officers and 200 men of other ranks, two machine guns and railway material were captured."

Petrograd, April 10.—(Via London. British Admiralty Per Wireless Press.) Russian troops of the northern army in Persia are again on the march into Mesopotamia from Baneh, just south of the latitude of Mosul, according to today's war office statement. The Turks have been driven out of the defenses they had been holding there for some time and the Russian offensive is being continued.

Southwest of Khanakin, the southern column of Russians which recently effected a junction with the British from Bagdad, has occupied Kizil Robat, 80 miles northeast of Bagdad.

The statement reads:

"Caucasus Front: In the direction of Panjwin our troops, having dislodged the Turks from their positions in the region of Nirban, 13 miles south of Baneh, are continuing their offensive. "In the direction of Khanikin we have occupied Kizil Robat, 26 miles southwest of Khanikin."

NOTED BRITISH AIRMAN REPORTED AS MISSING

London, April 10.—The Evening News says that Lieutenant William Leefe Robinson, the first aviator to bring down a Zeppelin in England, is reported missing.

MANY SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS TAKE COURSE

The registration of the seventh annual training school of the Atlanta Baptist Sunday School association, which opened on Monday night at the Second Baptist church, indicates that there will be one of the largest attendances on record.

In the course offered by the school is included the entire Blue Seal course of the educational department of the Southern Baptist convention, and a post-graduate course to those who have finished the Blue Seal course. For the teaching of the Blue Seal course, which is regarded as equal to any that could be secured, an able corps of teachers has been obtained.

The feature of Tuesday night's program was the demonstration by the primary department of the Jackson Hill Baptist church, under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Carter. Devotional service began at 5:30 o'clock, first class period at 6 o'clock, demonstration at 7:30 o'clock, and second class period at 8:15 o'clock. Lunch is served free each evening at the church.

Catarrh Is Dangerous

To be able to breath freely, hear plainly, smell, taste and arise in the morning refreshed and strong, with head and throat clear and free from phlegm are conditions that make life worth while.

No victim of catarrh can enjoy life as they should. The effects of this ravaging, disgusting disease are too plainly felt and yet, few people realize what a serious disease catarrh really is.

It is more than a trifling ailment, more than a passing discomfort; catarrh is a dangerous condition. It may lead to many distressing complications, such as clogged nostrils, droppings in the throat, a constant disagreeable taste in the mouth, loss of hearing, dull headaches or perhaps consumption.

Left to itself catarrh slowly and surely undermines the general health. Being a disease of the blood it should be treated through the blood to secure results. Sprays, inhalers, and ointments can never cure catarrh.

Below we print an old-fashioned recipe that can be made up in your own home for a few cents and which has been used with good results in cases of catarrh.

Go to any drug store and get an ounce of parmint, about 75c worth. Take it home and put it into a syrup of ¼ pint of hot water and four ounces of granulated sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This recipe has proved successful in many cases because it acts upon the blood and mucous membrane and tends to correct the trouble in the proper way. If the blood can be made pure your catarrh will speedily vanish. Anyone who has catarrh in any form should give this simple recipe a trial.—(adv.)

ROOSEVELT IS BENT ON GOING TO FRONT

Colonel Calls on Wilson and Begins Campaign for Leading a Roosevelt Division to Firing Line.

Washington, April 10.—Colonel Roosevelt began here today a personal campaign designed to result "at the earliest possible moment" in the appearance of the American flag and American soldiers, including himself, upon the firing line in France.

The former president placed his plans for recruiting a division of troops before President Wilson at a half-hour conference at the white house and during the remainder of the day and evening was busy with callers at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. He talked about his project to the chairmen and minority members of the house and senate military committees, and made arrangement to write them letters giving more specific details. He conferred with Secretary Baker and with Howard Coffin, Daniel Willard and Julius Rosenwald, members of the advisory commission of the Council of National Defense. He also received calls from the British, French and Japanese ambassadors; Assistant Secretary of State Phillips, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Franklin Roosevelt, many senators and representatives, and a score or more of personal friends.

The Colonel Enjoyed Himself.

The colonel apparently enjoyed himself thoroughly. He didn't spend a quiet moment from early morning until late at night. At all of his conferences he spoke not only of his own plans, but made it clear that he stood squarely behind President Wilson in the proposal to raise a war army on the principle of universal military service. He emphasized that his plans were not intended to interfere in any way with the policy of the administration and that he was anxious to place himself and the division he proposes raising under the orders of whatever regular army officer may be given command of an American expeditionary force.

At noon Colonel Roosevelt went to the white house, where he was immediately received by President Wilson in the green room. Just what happened during the conference no one would say. After a half-hour newspaper correspondents gathered under the high portico at the front door of the executive mansion saw its former occupant appear inside a window with Secretary Tumulty. There was an animated conversation and then the colonel emerged, Secretary Tumulty at his side. To the correspondents he said:

"I guess I know the kind of questions you want to ask me, so I'll just dictate a statement, and we will see whether that will answer the purpose."

Statement By Roosevelt.

Colonel Roosevelt's statement follows:

"I came on, desiring to see the president personally to reiterate what I had already said about his message to congress and to lay before him in detail and explain just what I desired to have his direction to do in connection with my division, and why it was my earnest hope and belief that it would be well that I should have the authorization to raise such a division to be sent as part of an expeditionary force to France at an early moment.

"The division and myself, of course, would be put under the command of whoever was at the head of the expeditionary force.

"The president received me with the utmost courtesy and consideration, and doubtless in his own due time will come to a decision in connection with the division."

Colonel Roosevelt then explained his position toward universal training.

"I am heart and soul for the principle of universal military training," he said. "I am for both universal obligatory training and service. Call it conscription and I will say yes. You cannot frighten me by any name.

"The division that I ask permission to raise would be made up of men who would not be taken under conscription."

In the midst of his statement, Colonel Roosevelt turned to Secretary Tumulty and said:

"If I say anything I shouldn't, be sure to censor it. I'm already under orders."

Slapped Tumulty on Back.

Colonel Roosevelt slapped Tumulty on the back and remarked he might get him.

As the colonel turned to leave, "Jack," a negro messenger who served at the white house during his administration, came up.

"Hello, Jack," exclaimed the colonel, shaking the negro's hand vigorously.

Immediately upon his return to the Longworth home the stream of callers began. Senators Chamberlain and Weeks, of the senate military committee, and Representatives Dent and Kahn, of the house military committee, were among the first. Among the others were Senators Poindexter and Hiram Johnson, Watson and Kellogg; Representative Lenroot and Rear Admiral Wainwright.

Later the former president received a number of newspaper correspondents, told them of his activities and chuckled when one remarked that he seemed to be almost as busy as he was when he was president. Then he said:

"I am very glad to have been here. I wanted to do everything possible to help the president's move for universal military service and in addition, not as a substitute, urge that immediate provision be made for a volunteer force, which, together with a portion of the regular, shall at the earliest possible moment put our flag on the firing line in France."

Late in the afternoon Secretary Baker called. He and Colonel Roosevelt were in conference for more than an hour. At the conclusion Mr. Baker said he had "spent a very pleasant hour," but would not go into details.

Colonel Roosevelt will return to New York tomorrow.

WAR MAKES MANY INSURANCE CHANGES

Large Policies for Protection Against Explosion Taken Out Here—Girls to Replace in Offices Men Who Enlist.

The big insurance agencies of Atlanta, following the steps of their English brothers at the outbreak of the European war, have already begun to prepare for war.

Likewise, many of the big industrial plants throughout the south are seeking explosion insurance. Two mammoth policies have already been issued to Atlanta manufactories. The Atlantic Steel company has been issued an explosion policy for $1,600,000, at an annual premium approximating $10,000. The Atlanta Milling company has been issued a $200,000 explosion insurance policy at an annual premium approximating $1,000.

Places for Girls.

The insurance companies are preparing for the dearth of young men in their offices which will be brought about by conscription or volunteering and are preparing to fill up the ranks with girl clerks. The Royal insurance company, Ulric Atkinson, the assistant manager, stated Tuesday, has already employed four young women, and expect to secure 30 or 40 more as the company has about this many men who are of the ages subject to the first draft for the army. Some women, too, have been employed in the offices of the Queen Insurance company.

S. Y. Tupper, Jr., assistant manager of the Queen, stated Tuesday that he has dozens of applications from industrial plants throughout the south for explosion insurance. Every kind of manufacturing plant is seeking this form of insurance.

"We have no rates on these forms of policies," said Mr. Tupper, "and are taking them up with the home offices, furnishing all possible data. It is a comparatively new form of insurance for the south, but one that is coming into great demand."

So far as the war is concerned the local fire agents have little apprehension. Fire policies carry clauses whereby the companies are not responsible for damage to buildings and plants brought about by invasion, riot or war. The fire companies feel secure that their tremendous assets will more than tide them through the worst season that could be expected with a world war. There are absolutely no riders being placed on policies.

Life Insurance.

It is a different matter with the life insurance companies. Most of the agents representing the bigger companies have already received notice stating that all holders of policies issued before April 6, the day on which congress declared a state of war existing between this country and Germany, be allowed to join the army, marine or navy of the United States, and to fight in any part of the world for this country, without voiding their insurance policies. However, with most of the companies, policies issued from April 6 will be subject to extra premiums for war risk.

In the case of the New England Mutual, persons expecting to enlist may take out policies without extra premium up to $3,000, but above that amount the policyholder must pay $50 extra premium for $1,000 insurance.

R. L. Foreman, state manager for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., has received notice from the home office that all policies written up to April 1 will not be changed by the policyholder serving the country. There will be no increase in the premiums on these old policies. Neither will there be any additional premium charged on policies written since unless policyholders see active service outside the United States. Service within the United States will not change the premium. In case of service outside the United States a small additional premium will be charged, but no policy for more than $5,000 will be written.

The Union Central Life Insurance company has not as yet inserted a war clause in their policies, according to the statement of Thomas H. Daniel, manager of the Atlanta branch office.

The Southern States Life Insurance company, with headquarters in this city, inserted a war clause in their policies on January 1. This policy does not call for extra premiums but provides that one killed within two years after the policy is taken out will only receive the reserve of the premiums paid in. This company has a unique feature in its policies in that the company will pay the premium of anyone serving in the army or navy of the United States who is unable to pay his premiums during his service. These premiums are paid by the company and the policyholder is not charged interest on the money. The Southern States limits war policies to $7,500. All policies written before January 1 are in no wise affected by the declaration of war. Wilmer L. Moore, of Atlanta, is president of this company.

The English insurance companies have war clauses in their policies that charge an additional premium of from $15 to $30 a thousand.

Some of the big life companies are putting on what are called a two year war rider. That is, if the holder is killed in the service of his country within two years after issuance of a new policy the company will return the premiums paid in but not pay the death claim.

Major Robert J. Guinn, general agent for the New England Mutual, has received the following telegram from his home office:

"Robert J. Guinn, Candler Building, Atlanta, Ga.—Congress having declared war, you are authorized to inform all members who hold policies issued on or before Friday, April 6, 1917, that the company grants them permission to engage in the military or naval service of the United States, on land or sea, in any part of the world, without the payment of any extra premium, any conditions in their policies to the contrary are hereby waived. This permission will also apply to policies issued upon applications completed and mailed from your agency before 12 o'clock Friday night, providing the annual premium has been paid and conditional receipt issued therefor. The extra premium to be charged for war permits granted to future applications cannot be determined at present.

(Signed) "ALFRED D. FOSTER,
"President."

However, the life agents state that few definite decisions have been made by their home office officials concerning war measures in regard to new policies. Practically all policies issued within the past ten years cannot be voided because of war. Many of the older policies which had "war void" clauses will be made good by the companies regardless of war service, although this question has not been definitely decided.

BEHIND SKIRTS YOUNG MEN HIDE TO ESCAPE ARMY

New York, April 10.—Young men who marry to avoid military service were today branded as cowards and "slackers" by City Clerk Scully, who, as head of the marriage license bureau, has become indignant at the unprecedented rush of applicants for licenses, seeking, he has become convinced, to put themselves beyond the pale of conscription.

Theodore Wasserman, in charge of the municipal marriage chapel, run in connection with the bureau, said many of the young women told him their husbands-to-be had begged them "to save them from the trenches by hurrying to the altar." There ought to be a special act of the legislature "to corral the crowd that has caused this disgraceful state of affairs," he said.

Chicago, April 10.—Obstacles were placed today in the way of the parade to the marriage license bureau, where, since the beginning of war with Germany, the number of daily applications has reached an unprecedented figure. Observing that 1,116 of the 1,250 applicants yesterday were of military age, County Clerk Sweitzer eliminated his emergency force of twenty clerks, leaving the normal force of four.

The second obstacle was to place recruiting officers in the building where clear-eyed young men in uniform were to ask each applicant the direct question: "Are you going to side-step your duty?"

How Shall a Woman Buy a Corset?

Here is a corset, we will say, that is designed by a master. One who knows anatomy, styles, and who is skilled in the art of shaping a corset into the lines of grace; we will say the corset is of as beautiful and sturdy a piece of brocade as a woman could wish for, the boning is the best; we will say that it is made with all the care that skilled workmanship can give. It is, of itself, a superb corset!

And yet—

And yet to what purpose, if it is not the correct model for the one woman who selects it?

The idea we are getting at is this—it isn't the corset of itself that a woman should buy.

We have ever and ever so many different models of corsets that are correct according to the styles of the season, but when it comes to the corset for the individual woman the chances are that we will not have over one or possibly two models that are positively correct for her (although we may have this model in several grades of materials at several prices.)

And so we say that the best way to buy a corset is, not over the counter, but in the fitting room, where a woman may have the advantage of the knowledge of our corsetieres, who know, through training and experience, what is right for health, comfort, style.

There is a marked tendency this season toward corsets with low busts and little boning—such dictates demand more skill for proper fitting than usual. It is, therefore, well worth while that women avail themselves of the corset-service that we are prepared to render.

Successo Corsets are $3.50 and upwards
Madame Irene Corsets are $5.00 and upwards
La Vida Corsets are $5.00 and upwards

OFFICERS NEEDED FOR THE NEW ARMY

Civilian Training Camps for Prospective Officers to Be Established — National Guard Plans Outlined.

Washington, April 10.—Army building plans of the administration are to be supplemented at once by the establishment at many points throughout the country of civilian training camps for officers.

The great need of the war army to be raised will be properly equipped officers, and to aid in meeting the demand the war department has decided to adopt the Plattsburg idea on a nation-wide scale. Arrangements for the camps are already being made, and civilians desirous of fitting themselves for commissions in the officers' reserve corps may apply now to departmental commanders for assignment to them. The number of camps to be set up will depend on the number of applications received.

Course of Three Months.

A course of three months' vigorous training will be given the prospective officers, who will be organized into companies of large units, and go through all the drills and exercises of enlisted men, supplemented by lecture courses as to the duties of officers.

The qualities displayed by men undergoing this training will determine whether they are suited to army life, and also the rank in the reserve corps which they are qualified to hold. Commissions will be issued at the conclusion of the training periods to those accepted, who will be assigned to units of the regular army, national guard or the first contingent of troops to be raised under the draft plan.

The scheme is designed particularly to meet the situation of civilians who have had no military experience and who are too old to enter the second lieutenant grade of the reserve corps, but are otherwise qualified by education and capacity to become officers.

The department, it was announced today, has suspended the regulation limiting new enlistment in the regular army to men not more than 35 years of age. This was made possible by the war declaration against Germany. Under existing law, men not more than 45 years of age could be accepted, but, to conform to the administration's army bill, the maximum age has now been set at 40 years.

Enlistment for Regular Army.

The present authorized strength of the regulars will soon be reached, at the present rate of enlistment. Including all combatant and non-combatant troops and unassigned recruits, this would mean a total of 138,000 enlisted men. Until the president so directs, the regiments cannot be brought up to war strength, or additional regiments be organized. It is apparent that the administration is not inclined to take this step until congress has acted on the new army bill.

An exception will be made in the case of regiments of negro troops, however, some of which already are over the authorized peace strength. They will be filled from waiting lists to full war-time strength. Recruiting for other regiments also will be prosecuted vigorously, it is indicated, as the process of assembling, equipping and assigning recruits takes some time, and it is expected congress will have acted before any considerable number in excess of authorized strength may be ready to join their regiments.

The question of supplies for the increasing numbers of recruits both for the regulars and national guard is a difficult one, and has been complicated by failure of the deficiency and regular appropriation bills in the last congress. Plenty of money will be provided in the near future, but, because of the unusual demands upon skilled labor, it has been difficult to get quick deliveries, and it may be sixty days before the great volume of deliveries begins.

PLANS OUTLINED FOR NATIONAL GUARD.

Washington, April 10.—Plans for the national guard were definitely outlined today by the war department.

Adjutants general of the states have been informed that no new units of the guard will be recognized except such special forces as may be necessary to complete divisional organization of the present establishment and those which have armories have been recruited in definite localities and have other indications of "probable permanency."

The purpose of the department is to prevent organization of purely volunteer regiments under the guise of national guard units and which would not, in all probability, last beyond the duration of the war.

An official circular issued today points out that the present emergency is one which cannot be met by the regular forces and the national guard alone, and adds that existing law "does not contemplate that the federal government shall call upon the states to form more national guard troops in order that they may be called into the federal service."

"The laws," the circular continues, "placed this responsibility of organizing more troops for strictly federal use upon the federal government, where it properly belongs. Both from the standpoint of justice to the state and of efficiency of the forces, the federal government should have the duty and the responsibility of organizing all forces additional to the national guard after the guard has been called into the United States service."

The circular then affirms this statement of policy, approved by Secretary Baker:

"No new national guard units will be recognized which do not have (1) suitable armories; (2) personnel grouped by locality so as to insure the possibility of attendance at drill; (3) probable permanency.

"No new units will be authorized in addition to those needed to complete the divisions outlined in the orders of the war department, and such army corps troops as may hereafter be designated.

"State authorities and national guard officers should concentrate their energies and attention upon organizing, properly equipping and training their existing organizations and recruiting them up to maximum strength authorized."

Street Car Company May Issue Bonds to Pay for Improvements

The state railroad commission Tuesday granted the petition of the Georgia Railway and Electric company for authority to issue $54,000 first and refunding mortgage bonds to reimburse its treasury for money spent in extensions and improvements within the 7-mile limit of the city of Atlanta since October 31, 1916. A petition of the Georgia Railway and Power company to issue $34,000 of similar bonds to reimburse its treasury for similar expenditures outside the 7-mile limit was also granted.

The commission allowed the Midland railroad to issue $432,600 in capital stock and to create a first mortgage on its property to secure $1,000,000 worth of first consolidated mortgage bonds, these issues being for the purpose of taking up outstanding indebtedness and for additions and improvements of the property.

The Southern Express company was allowed to close its express depots at Alcovy and Clarkston, on the Georgia railroad between Atlanta and Augusta, and at Goggins, on the Central of Georgia between Atlanta and Macon.

Upon petition of Walker & Roberts, attorneys, of Monroe, Ga., the commission granted that the following flag-stops of Georgia railroad train No. 13, accommodation train between Union Point and Atlanta, be discontinued:

Moore street, Hurt street, Clifton, Johnson, Patillo, Hardage, Hillyers, Virgil, Browns, Mitchell, Rays, Zion, McCurdy, Wells, Miners and Worsham.

COURT HOLDS MURRAY REFERENDUM ILLEGAL

Reversing Judge Fite in refusing to grant an injunction restraining Ordinary Campbell, of Murray county, from declaring the result of the referendum election held coincidental with the democratic primary last fall, the supreme court Tuesday held the act under which this election was held void. The injunction was asked on the ground that being held under the rules of the democratic primary, the election precluded certain republicans from voting. The referendum was upon the question of abolishing the Murray board of commissioners and establishing a board of supervisors, in which question the old Murray county courthouse was involved.

EXODUS OF NEGRO RACE TO NORTH DISCUSSED

A meeting of the negroes to discuss the cause of the exodus of their race from the south was held last night at the Allen Temple church at which 800 men and 250 women attended. Several prominent Atlanta negroes addressed the assembly.

Bishop J. S. Flipper, head of the African Methodist church in Georgia, presided. Causes of the negro's migration northward were debated and plans by which the colored labor of the south might be retained suggested. Much enthusiasm was evoked and a strong spirit of loyalty to the south and the nation displayed.

BIG ARMY CANTONMENT HERE ALMOST ASSURED

Location of Enormous Supply Depots in Atlanta Forecasts Camp Site.

Following the announcement Tuesday that Atlanta has been selected by the war department as the site for enormous supply depots for troops stationed or operating in the southeast, interest centers now largely in the probability that Atlanta will be selected as the site for the divisional army cantonment for which General Leonard Wood recently made a trip of inspection to this city and vicinity.

In view of the desirability of having supply depots and large troop camps located in close proximity to each other, Atlantans are inclined to be optimistic over the prospects of the cantonment being located here.

The selection of the site for the cantonment has been left to General Wood.

The location of the supply stations alone here, however, means the expenditure of millions of dollars through and in Atlanta and vicinity.

Manufacturers of food and clothing, dealers in automobiles and accessories, farmers, merchants—practically every branch of industry will be affected by the location of the supply depots here. Bids will be asked from dealers in Atlanta and other southern cities and large amounts of stores will likely be drawn from the immediate southeastern territory.

Some idea of the quantity of supplies that may be needed may be gained when it is considered that possibly several divisions of soldiers of approximately 30,000 men each may be located either at Atlanta or in the territory to be supplied from this point. It is expected also that forage for some 20,000 head of stock will be supplied through the Atlanta stations.

The Lowry Bank Has Already Been Through Two Wars:

The Lowry National Bank was established in 1861, at the opening of the Civil War, and has been growing in strength for more than half a century.

In 1898, at the time of the Spanish-American War, it had long been established as one of the south's largest and strongest financial institutions.

In this year of 1917, with our country again at war, the Lowry National Bank offers depositors and patrons the same strength and security which have characterized it since the days of '61.

ALLEGED SPY ARRESTED.
Milledgeville Authorities Holding Man for Examination.

Milledgeville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Milledgeville is having its round of excitement today in the arrest and examination of a suspicious character thought to be a German spy or sympathizer bent on doing damage to property. He was arrested here today at the request of the authorities of the Georgia railroad in Augusta, because of his actions in Haddock, a coal and water station between here and Macon. The man is very bright and well educated, though poorly clad. He was unable to give satisfactory proof of his identity and is being detained here on a warrant charging vagrancy. He claims to be an Englishman by the name of Lawrence, traveling through the country for his health.

Sick-Headache!

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two anti-kamnia tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one anti-kamnia tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet.

Anti-kamnia tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all pain.

BRAZIL IS FIGHTING FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

D. de Sampaio-Ferraz, Eminent South American Visitor, Sees New Era in Linking of Two Great Republics in War.

A man of distinguished mien and bearing, yet easily approachable, is D. de Sampaio-Ferraz, of Brazil, who is stopping at the Winecoff, chatted freely with newspaper men last night about his country's entrance into the war and its effect in welding together the peoples of the two greatest republics of the new world. He is general supervisor of the Brazilian Lloyd steamship lines, owned and operated by the Brazilian government, and a member of the editorial staff of The Jornal do Commercio at Rio Janeiro. He is in the south for the purpose of studying cotton transportation methods, expecting to adopt many American ideas on his country's steamship and railway lines.

"Brazil has come into the war," he said, "to uphold its national honor. It was a question of racial integrity which impelled Brazil to break with Germany—that and the cause of humanity. The honorable example of America in striking for the cause of humanity was another of Brazil's causes.

"The friendship of Brazil for the United States is strong. It is on a firmer foundation now than ever before. In all Brazil the people realize that the American aim at this moment is to uphold the rights of humanity. We Brazilians are faithful, and will remain so, to the United States in its attitude. America is standing for the noblest of ideals, and not material interests.

Brazil Has Good Navy.

"Brazil already has a splendid navy. The army will now be recruited to war footing. Our navy will be a valuable asset to the American navy. The tonnage of the Brazilian navy compares favorably with that of the American navy. Our fighting will be carried on largely by naval forces because we can furnish a much greater sea strength than army.

"The Brazilian people are loyal and patriotic. And the war on Germany will cement even more enduringly the feeling of brotherhood between America and our country. The end of the war will find Brazil and the United States linking hands across the sea in symbol of perpetual brotherhood."

Wednesday at noon Atlanta capitalists will accompany the Brazil official to the commercial exchange to hear an address by Joseph A. McCord, governor of the regional bank, in which institution Mr. Sampaio-Ferraz has taken a keen interest. He will probably deliver a brief address on the occasion.

Regarding the reserve banking system, he said:

"I also want permission to declare that I regret that the American national reserve banking system has not been established in the country longer than it has. The time lost in the development of American banking facilities must be recovered with speed and promptness. London has for many years been the clearing house of the world, and this method is not only unnecessary, but expensive and a great handicap to speed. It also needlessly affords a third nation opportunity to learn much of your trade activities."

Need American Capital.

"We need capital and more organizing ability. Results depend on the introduction of American capital into Brazilian enterprises."

Mr. de Sampaio-Ferraz will spend some time in the south. Of all parts of North America he has visited he likes Dixie best.

"The people are so gentle," he said, "and the sun is so generous. It must be that the sun has put me in a genial disposition, for I have begun to love the country with a growing ardor. There is a delectable trace of Latin in the people. They remind me of my own people, who live among music and sunshine and flowers and smiling faces."

ARGENTINA GOES AGAINST GERMANY

the state department informally today, and a proclamation of neutrality is expected after the Mexican congress meets April 15.

Official confirmation of Brazil's break with the Berlin government still was lacking tonight at the state department and the Brazilian embassy, but officials believe there is no doubt that the authorities at Rio have definitely decided for war. As the largest South American nation, Brazil's influence on the other republics of the new world is expected to be second only to that of the United States.

Officials here professed to be ignorant of the purpose of Peru as announced in press reports, in sending a naval officer to Washington "on a special naval mission," but it was taken as a sign that opinion in that country was crystallizing in favor of belligerency.

Official advices from Guatemala during the day left little doubt that the proclamation of martial law there was a preliminary to a break with Germany. Under suspension of the civil law the Guatemalan government can take drastic steps in controlling what might otherwise be a serious situation presented by the large German population.

Carranza and the Oil Fields.

It is assumed that as a neutral the Mexican government will take such steps it is able to protect the oil fields supplying a considerable part of the fuel used by the British fleet. A great part of that field is not now within Carranza's control, but Manuel Palaez, the revolutionist controlling a long strip of territory south of Tampico, has gained the confidence of the oil operators by his policy of guarding the big wells against any aggressions by enemy aliens.

An incident that has caused curiosity and some anxiety at the state department was the taking over by the Mexican government two weeks ago of the British-owned Mexican railway between Vera Cruz and Mexico City. No explanation has been given, but continued investigation by the department has failed to show any German influence behind the act.

It is regarded as possible, however, though not probable that some headway may have been made by the German agents with Villa and other revolutionary chiefs yet operating on a scale big enough to make them a menace to Carranza. Increased activity of rebel chiefs, it is realized, might render very difficult Carranza's maintenance of neutrality.

DEATH LIST OF 150 LIKELY TO RESULT

heroism. Captain Walter Wilhelm, vice president of the Eddystone corporation, and formerly a national guardsman, dashed through smoke and flame into the wreckage ten times, each time carrying some one to safety.

For a time there was confusion among the rescue squads, who, until a controlling head took charge, worked at cross purposes. At first no one realized the extent of the disaster, and when its magnitude finally was seen the calls for assistance so monopolizing the telephone lines that it was impossible to obtain any information. So serious was the danger from exploding shrapnel considered that the trolley lines were tied up for more than an hour.

Pathetic Scene Presented.

Throughout the afternoon and until late tonight Chester presented a pathetic scene. Thousands of friends and relatives of the victims were surging through the streets in an effort to locate their loved ones. Crowds of morbidly curious in front of the hospitals and the morgue were held back by national guardsmen. No one was allowed in the morgue and only those who could establish their right to be there were permitted to enter the shops. Companies B and C, of the Sixth Pennsylvania regiment, were called into service early in the night to assist the machine gun company of the First regiment and cadets from the Pennsylvania Military academy who patrolled the streets throughout the afternoon.

William A. Drayer, one of the seriously injured, told of his experiences after he recovered consciousness.

"About 10 o'clock," he said, "I turned on my chair and asked one of the girls what time it was. She told me and I had no sooner turned back to my desk than the first explosion occurred. The first one sounded like the explosion of a five-gallon can of gasoline. When the third explosion occurred I was blown through the door near my desk to the side of a donkey locomotive which was standing on the railroad tracks east of the building. After regaining consciousness, I noticed the flames bursting out of the structure. I saw a girl rush out with her clothing in flames. She stumbled and fell and I tried to pick her up, but I was so weak that I also fell. Later another man rescued her.

Munitions for Allies.

The Eddystone Ammunition corporation, which was organized originally by interests identified with the Baldwin Locomotive works and operated by those interests, was taken over last September by a commission representing the British and Russian governments. Since that time this commission has been carrying on the manufacture of munitions for the entente allies.

The financial loss as a result of the explosion is estimated at less than $25,000, not including the ammunition destroyed. Work will be resumed tomorrow in all departments except the box, packing and base charging departments. All departments will be in full operation by April 24, according to an official of the company. More than 10,000 persons are employed at the plant.

William O'Donnell, of Hazleton, Pa., who was in the pellet room when the explosion occurred, charged the Eddystone officials with laxity in the matter of hiring munition workers. He declared that many Mexicans who recently arrived from the border were hired and that Germans and Austrians also were given employment. Unlike other munition plants, O'Donnell said, the Eddystone concern did not require extended references from prospective employees.

Food Commission Urged.

The convention also recommended the immediate creation of a federal food commission, with power to fix prices and to supervise marketing and distribution of food in the United States during the war.

The recommendation comes close upon a move by the council of national defense forecasting appointment of a national food committee headed by Herbert C. Hoover, who has had charge of American relief work in Belgium.

The convention's resolutions proposed that a food commission, if named, handle also the production and distribution of clothing. They also recommended that agricultural colleges graduate their senior classes earlier this year than usual so they may go immediately to the farms and that state councils of defense be named to aid the national council, a step already planned in some states.

In a letter read to the convention President Wilson appealed to the farmer to swell his production as a patriotic war-time duty and declared that by planting and increasing his production in every way possible he will perform a labor for which he will be recognized as a soldier of the commissary.

Millions of Food Gardens.

Millions of food gardens as a means of combatting a food shortage was suggested by Charles L. Pack, president of the National Emergency Food Garden commission.

"They will give millions of families cheap food," he said, "and will relieve the railroads of transportation problems which it is believed everywhere will be too much for them. I have just come from Ohio which enters the war with less food than at the outbreak of the civil war, when the population was half what it is today. In other states east of the Mississippi the situation is much the same.

"The department of agriculture has just announced that a drop of more than 100,000,000 pounds in the stocks of frozen and cured meats in the United States, compared with last year's store, is indicated. The reserve supply of all food necessities is low. The yield of grain and farm products fell short of the normal this year. And now with the war upon us the yield to come from the present crops will be needed for the army and navy. Where then do the civilian millions come in?

"There is but one solution and that is individual farming. Convert every back yard garden and vacant lot in every city, village and town into a thriving food producing garden and the civilian population will be self-supporting. The nation will not face the problem of feeding an inactive army if this is done."

RED WARDS OF NATION MUST GO TO FARMING.

Muskogee, Okla., April 10.—Every Indian in Oklahoma under the guardianship of the United States government will be "drafted" into the United States service as a farmer under instructions received today by Gabe E. Parker, superintendent of the Five Civilized Tribes, from Cato Sells, Indian commissioner.

It was said at the Indian offices here that more than 30,000 restricted Indians would be placed upon farm work under government supervision by the order.

Mr. Parker is directed to "call farmers and leading Indians together immediately for an organized effort under your continuous supervision." Superintendent Parker is authorized to take the older boys out of school for farm work.

Mr. Parker has called a conference of the entire field force of the Five Civilized Tribes for April 13.

AMUSEMENTS

Will Oakland.
(At the Forsyth.)

The wonderful tenor that has made Will Oakland one of the most popular singers in America is a leading feature of the melodious headline act of the Forsyth Keith vaudeville show this week. Mr. Oakland appears at the head of a splendid company in "Danny O'Gill, U. S. A.," a brand-new act that is declared by his admirers to be the best vehicle he has ever had. Throughout the program is one of the best Manager Hickman has offered in many weeks. Ralph Dunbar's Singing Bell Ringers in an act of superlative melody is one of the big features. Another is a very superior juvenile act, "At the Party," a fine combination of fun and melody; Al Shayne appears in the best line of comedy that has ever distinguished one of his appearances. Stan Stanley, funny as they make 'em; Fred Force and Mildred Williams in "Sky High With Si" and the Leon Sisters in an unusual wire act complete the show. The Pathe news of the week shows the Seventeenth Infantry entraining for home at El Paso and the Burton Holmes pictures are of middies at Annapolis.

Blue-Eyed Marvel.
(At the Grand.)

A wee slip of a girl, a school girl in years, is amazing thousands of spectators at the Grand this week. She is "Resista," the human defiance of gravitation, and the blue-eyed lass who resists the combined muscular strength of six men—and more. Her act, which headlines an extraordinary program of vaudeville, has become the sensation of the theatrical season. In addition the Grand presents Grindell and Esther, pleasant eccentrics, singers and dancers; the Parisse Duo, instrumentalists with a repertoire ranging from operatic to topical selections; Lew Hawkins, the minstrel notable, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas in the whimsical farce, "The Dog Thief." The picture play branch of the program is headlined by Kitty Gordon in "Forget-Me-Not," a five-reel William A. Brady classic. Next week the Grand will present a change of program twice weekly.

"Hungry Hearts."
(At the Alpha.)

A feature of more than ordinary merit is "Hungry Hearts," a five-part production from the World studio with Alice Brady in the leading part, which is to be shown at the Alpha theater today. Miss Brady is an actress of exceptionable screen ability and scores a distinct success in "Hungry Hearts." For Thursday the management has booked Norma Talmadge in "Martha's Vindication." In this production she is supported by a strong cast, which includes Tully Marshall and Seena Owen.

Clara Kimball Young.
(At the Criterion.)

"The Price She Paid," with Miss Clara Kimball Young as the star, will be the Selznick-Pictures feature at the Criterion theater Wednesday and for the rest of the week. This photo-drama of the life of a beautiful young society woman is from the immensely popular novel by David Graham Phillips. It outlines the problems in the life of a young woman, used to luxurious surroundings, who finds herself almost without resources. After a disastrous marriage she determines to become a grand opera singer, and the difficulties she encounters form a series of scenes of unusual interest. How she finally reaches independence and freedom is a fascinating story. In its outward aspect "The Price She Paid" is a picture de luxe, as it deals with the lives of people of unlimited wealth.

Theda Bara.
(At the Strand.)

"Joan the Woman."
(At the Atlanta.)

Of all the motion pictures ever made none has had a finer purpose than "Joan the Woman," in which Geraldine Farrar, the famous opera star, appears at the Atlanta all next week with daily matinees except Monday. It is not merely awe-inspiring as a spectacle and thrilling in its heroic moments, but there is something bigger and more ennobling back of it than stage craft. It shows to what heights a woman can rise when it comes to a moment of sacrifice. No one can hold back the big lumps that come to the throat when they see this wonderful peasant girl of France with one of England's greatest invading knights at her feet in the humble supplication of genuine love, hold back her human emotions because her country needs her. And in the continuance of this throbbing love story every soul must be stirred to see the girl, Joan, hard as adamant on the battlefield, twice save the life of her suitor, only to find in the end that he is the one selected to trap her for the king of England. Historical and wonderful in pageantry it is, but the thing that will make it take rank with the greatest motion pictures of our time is the way Joan's great love story is woven through it all.

Louise Glaum.
(At the Vaudette.)

The war play, the most appealing thing that now can be seen on the screen, should draw a crowd to the Vaudette theater today and Thursday, these being the days Louise Glaum is scheduled to appear in her latest offering, "Sweetheart of the Doomed." Miss Glaum fits into the role of a siren like feathers fit on a bird and she is quite an engaging home-wrecker until she happens to meet a man she really loves. And one day, when she has been placed in a hospital ministering to the men wounded in battle, she comes face to face with her sweetheart. He is shot. This is a really effective situation and is splendidly presented by the star and the Triangle players.

Douglas Fairbanks.
(At the Alamo 2.)

It's Douglas Fairbanks at the Alamo No. 2 today and Blanche Sweet tomorrow, and their vehicles are most entertaining. Fairbanks' picture, "The Matrimaniac," has been shown in Atlanta before, and it's a gloom-chaser, a laugh-winner and a Joy-producer. It concerns the efforts of sweethearts bent on eloping—and who do elope. "The Tides of Barnegat," the production in which Blanche Sweet will be starred at this theater Thursday and Friday, is a new picture. Never before has it been seen by an Atlanta audience. The picture tells of the sacrifice of a young girl to save the honor of her sister.

Ruskin Arctic Pictures.
(At the Rialto.)

"An opportunity no Atlantan should miss," is what one of the Atlanta newspaper critics has said of the chance being offered this week to see the new and wonderful pictures of the Arctic regions that are being shown at the Rialto, accompanied by an entertaining and instructive lecture by Dr. John W. Ruskin. The pictures give remarkable views of Eskimo life and among dozens of interesting features are views of the great fur trading posts of the far north and of the modes of living of the exiles in Siberia. Throughout the pictures show sights that are totally unfamiliar to everyone except those who have dared to risk their lives in the vast frozen areas and are thoroughly entertaining as well as highly instructive.

"GIRL TEMPTED ME," DECLARES PASTOR

Rev. J. J. Adams Denies Decoying Young Moultrie Girl With Whom He Eloped, Deserting Wife.

Moultrie, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The age-old plea of Father Adam—the woman tempted me—was made today by Rev. J. J. Adams, a Baptist minister, on trial here on the charge of decoying Miss Dewey Kennedy, a pretty Norman Park girl from her home. The case was concluded tonight and Judge Thomas will charge the jury in the morning.

The features of the trial today were the stories told on the witness stand by the minister, who is 50 years old, and the girl in the case who claims to be less than 18.

Had Pistol in Court.

Miss Kennedy was the first witness. She was called to the stand in a few minutes after her father had been arrested and searched in the courtroom and carried to prison because a pistol was found on his person, and she was still crying, but soon after she began her story she regained her composure. She swore than fear of Adams prompted her to accompany him on the trip they made together and which led them as far as West Point, Miss. On cross-examination she admitted that she left church on the evening of the elopement and walked down the road to meet the minister, but declared that Adams had told her the Saturday night before that "he couldn't stand for things to continue like they were any longer and that if she didn't join him Sunday night he was going to kill himself and her, too."

Attorneys for the defense had more than a hundred notes in court, and the girl admitted she wrote them, but said, "He made me write them when we resolved to come home, saying that they would help him out when his case come to trial."

The question of the girls' age came up frequently during the day, the defense attempting to show that she was over 18 years old, and accompanied the minister voluntarily. Her father asserted that she was under 18 years, but admitted he had given her age as 19 in the reward card carrying her description which was scattered all over the country.

Calls Girl Temptress.

Adams, in his statement, sought to place the responsibility upon the girl. He declared that Miss Kennedy was the real temptress. "She made me forget the laws of the state, the laws of God and my vows to the church, and I went away with her, but I didn't kidnap her or inveigle her into making the trip. I didn't threaten her as she says that I did. She told me the day that we returned home that if I would agree to get a divorce from my wife and marry her she would swear for me when I was placed on trial. I refused, and that, gentlemen of the jury, is why she was so bitter against me while she was on the witness stand today."

YOUNG ATLANTANS ORGANIZE TRAINING CLASS FOR RESERVE

There was an enthusiastic manifestation of patriotism at the organizing of the military training school Tuesday afternoon in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce, following the suggestions of Colonel J. C. Woodward, of G. M. A., and some Atlanta newspaper men. A large gathering of young men assembled, students, physicians and lawyers. There was evident a keen desire to get into the service on the part of the majority of those present. Colonel E. E. Pomeroy was elected president of the organization, and Archie Lee, vice president. A committee of ten will be appointed to take up the matter of a next meeting and other details, including that of enrollment.

Lieutenant O. O. Ellis, of the United States army and of G. M. A., co-author of "The Plattsburg Manual," gave an interesting discussion of the requirements for officers in the reserve corps. He stressed the importance of the applicant being certain that he has ability to train and lead men.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted, urging General Wood to designate a reserve officers' training camp in or near Atlanta this summer.

MACON WOMEN TO SIGN FOR WARTIME DUTIES

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Macon women are going to do their full part in behalf of their country during the war, announcement being made today that a registry will be opened here shortly by the National League for Woman's Service to ascertain what the women of Macon can do in the event all the able-bodied men have to go to the battle front.

Mrs. Charles Akerman, of Macon, is chairman for the sixth congressional district, and explained the purpose of the work of the National League for Woman's Service at a meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution today. She declared it the duty of every patriotic woman to register.

KITCHIN IS WILLING TO PUSH WAR MEASURES

Democratic Leader Announces That He Will Support the Administration.

Washington, April 10.—Democratic Leader Kitchin today announced his readiness to pilot the administration war program through the house. He voted against the war resolution and there was some doubt of his position.

Mr. Kitchin also announced that he would give the democratic caucus an opportunity to decide if it desired to depose him as house leader. While a large majority of the democrats disagree with his opposition to the war resolution, the general feeling is that he voted his conviction and now that he is willing to take charge of the war measure, he is not open to attack.

Great surprise was expressed by Mr. Kitchin over any question being raised as to his being willing to push the war measures through the house. He never had any intention of opposing them once the war resolution passed, he said.

"Now that the resolution has passed, I certainly am willing to take charge of the measures and push them through," said he. "I cannot understand why it ever has been intimated that I would be unwilling to take charge of the bill. I expressed my willingness in my address to the house and I wish to reiterate it now."

Belief was general in congressional circles that all the so-called pacifist factions would join with Mr. Kitchin in support of the measures.

Despite Kitchin's announced willingness to father the administration's war revenue measures as the chairman of the ways and means committee, several of his friends express belief that he probably will oppose universal military service and training.

HISTORIC NAMES CHOSEN FOR BATTLE CRUISERS

Washington, April 10.—Names of historical naval vessels today were given to the five battle cruisers being built for the navy. They will be called the Saratoga, Constellation, Constitution, Ranger and Lexington, after the famous frigates of the first American navy.

The ancient frigates Constellation and Constitution will be known hereafter as the Old Constellation and the Old Constitution.

The present cruiser Saratoga will be renamed City of Rochester, and another name will be chosen for the gunboat Ranger, in the service of Massachusetts as a school ship. There is no Lexington now on the navy list.

STATE-WIDE DRY FIGHT ORDERED FOR FLORIDA

Tallahassee, Fla., April 10.—Voters of Florida will have an opportunity to vote on state-wide prohibition in the 1918 election. Both houses of the Florida legislature today voted overwhelmingly in favor of the resolution providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment calling for state-wide prohibition. The vote in the senate was 29 to 3, while in the house the vote was 62 to 4.

The prohibitionists of Florida have for many sessions vainly endeavored to secure the submission of the proposed amendment. They have often won in the house, but each time the senate refused to concur. In the last session, which was in 1915, they lost by but one vote in the senate.

WOMEN SILENTLY PRAY FOR GIRL "MARTYRS"

New Orleans, April 10.—Delegates at the session late today of the biennial council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at the suggestion of the president, Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, of Los Angeles, arose for one minute of silent prayer when news of the killing in Pennsylvania of nearly one hundred girl ammunition plant workers was read. At the end of the prayer period Mrs. Cowles pronounced the single word "Fortitude."

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, director for Minnesota, was granted privilege of the floor and said:

"The first martyr of the Christian church was a slave girl of Lyons. The first martyrs of the present crisis are our own working girls of Pennsylvania."

On motion of Mrs. Winter the convention then voted unanimously to send a telegram of sympathy to the people of Eddystone, Pa.

After brief discussion resolutions were adopted indorsing President Wilson's stand on the German situation and pledging the assistance of every club woman of the nation, represented through the federation, to the government. Assistance of the club women was promised last night by the president and the resolution today was in approval of her action.

Strong pleas for women to aid the government were made by Mrs. Cowles and Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, of Texas, former president. Both urged the women to put aside whatever disapproval of war they may have had and do everything possible to bring victory to the arms of the United States. "This is a holy war; a war guided by love, not by hate," Mrs. Pennypacker declared. Mrs. Cowles in her report, as president, emphasized the duty of the federation to the country in the present crisis. Other general officers and standing committees presented reports.

SMITH WITH HARDWICK IN FIGHTING WHIPPLE

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, April 10.—(Special.)—The first move in the fight by Senator Hardwick on the nomination of U. V. Whipple, of Cordele, as federal district judge, was the reference of the name by the senate judiciary committee to a subcommittee consisting of Senators Smith of Georgia, King of Utah and Borah of Idaho.

Senator Smith will stand by his colleague and ask the subcommittee to make an unfavorable report. Senator Borah and Senator Hardwick are very friendly, so that he will consider very seriously the demands of "senatorial courtesy." Senator King is the new democratic senator from Utah and his stand as yet undecided.

There has been no suggestion by Senator Hardwick that Judge Whipple is personally offensive to him, which is usually the ground on which a senator asks the rejection of a presidential nomination which is displeasing to him. Instead they are believed to be on good personal terms, though Judge Whipple has not been his political supporter. The junior senator wishes to obtain this nomination for a close friend and supporter of his own, and the indications are now that he will carry the fight to the bitter end. He will oppose not only Whipple, but any other candidate whom he does not recommend for the place.

U. S. DESTROYERS TAKE GUN-RUNNING VESSEL

San Diego, Cal., April 10.—A munitions-carrying schooner, bound for a Mexican west coast port, was fired upon and captured by two United States torpedo boat destroyers, it was learned tonight from authoritative sources. Five shots were fired at the vessel when it attempted to escape and the ship was then beached. Several thousand rounds of rifle and machine gun ammunition were taken aboard the destroyer and landed at a Pacific coast port.

It is known that the destroyers have been scouting for a supposed munitions smuggling ship for more than a week. Monday the patrol boats sighted the schooner, which was southbound off the coast of California, and following a course inshore. The warships gave chase and when the captain of the schooner saw that capture was inevitable, he is reported to have attempted to destroy his vessel.

The ammunition was taken off by motor launches from the destroyers. The identity of the captain and crew of the schooner has not been revealed.

Persons in a position to know the full details of the action intimated that the ammunition was taken aboard the smuggler at two Pacific coast points by fishing boats.

D. A. R. WAR LEAGUE FORMED AT ELBERTON

Elberton, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Stephen Heard chapter, D. A. R., has organized the first D. A. R. war league for enlistment of the women, boys and girls of the country in planting and conserving foodstuffs for assistance in the war. It will also co-operate with the Red Cross. This patriotic band has raised about $300 and purchased a large electric United States flag which, at an early date, will be erected on the courthouse tower.

The war spirit has enthused the people of Elberton and Elbert county. Last night a patriotic meeting was held at the courthouse, at which Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Brown was the principal speaker. Major Hunter and Adjutant Payne urged the people not only to enlist, but to raise foodstuffs. The meeting indorsed the administration and pledged its support and promised to raise more foodstuffs than ever before. The new Elberton brass band furnished music.

LUTHERANS ARE URGED TO SHOW THEIR LOYALTY

Philadelphia, April 10.—The 1,400,000 members of the Lutheran church in this country are called upon to loyally support the government in a proclamation signed by the president of the three Lutheran bodies. The document calls upon the members "to affirm and approve by wor dand act their loyalty to the president and congress of the United States, and we further recommend to the congregations in our cities and towns that they form or unite in forming American Red Cross chapters in their respective communities for the amelioration of the lot of our brave soldiers and sailors."

NOBEL PEACE MONEY ASKED FOR ROOSEVELT

Washington, April 10.—Senator Lodge introduced a bill today to return to Theodore Roosevelt the $40,000 cash Nobel peace prize which the colonel gave to the foundation for the promotion of industrial peace while president. The money has been insufficient to carry out the purposes of the foundation. Colonel Roosevelt got the prize for ending the war between Japan and Russia.

Memphis, Tenn., April 10.—Mrs. T. J. Latham, aged 80 years, widely known throughout the south for her connection with the United Daughters of the Confederacy and other patriotic organizations, died at her residence here today.

She was appointed recently chaperon-in-chief for the Washington reunion by Ernest Baldwin, commander-in-chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans.

LINER NEW YORK HITS MINE OFF LIVERPOOL

Damage to American Ship Was Slight—Makes Port Under Own Steam.

Liverpool, April 10.—The American Line steamer New York, bound from New York for Liverpool, struck a mine last night when nearing her destination. The explosion occurred on the port bow of the vessel and distress signals were immediately sent out.

Nearby vessels went to the assistance of the liner and all her passengers were taken off and brought to the landing stage here. It was found that the damage, which was confined to the forepart of the vessel, was not serious and the New York was able to make her pier under her own steam. The vessel had shipped some water, but her appearance as she came into the river suggested nothing more than that she was heavily laden. When the New York was moored a large gang of dock workers immediately began to discharge the cargo so as to enable the steamer to go into dry dock as early as possible.

New York, April 10.—The American line steamship New York left this port on March 29 for Liverpool with fifty-eight passengers, cargo and mail. The passengers included seven American citizens. She carried a navy crew of gunners and was armed. The ship's crew was composed of 234 men included 44 Americans.

The American citizens who were passengers on the New York, with their addresses given when passage was secured, were: John M. Curtis, Mrs. Maude Augusta Dowling and R. H. Gamble, New York city; Archer G. Jones and Mrs. Jones, Richmond, Va.; Charles E. Gale, Philadelphia, and Captain Lawrie, Elizabeth, N. J.

The New York is commanded by Captain W. J. Roberts. The gun crew was in charge of a naval lieutenant. The vessel, of 10,798 tons gross, was the third American passenger ship to leave armed from a United States port.

SEARCH OF BAGGAGE DISCLOSES 40 QUARTS

Detectives, detailed by Chief N. A. Lanford to board a Louisville and Nashville incoming train at Marietta Saturday afternoon, seized five suit cases of liquor being brought to Atlanta from Chattanooga by Dan Tucker, who was yesterday fined $25.75 and bound over to superior court.

Attaches to Solicitor Lowry Arnold's court were Tuesday making arrangements to press the case against Tucker. His was the first arrest for smuggling liquor into the territory. The seizure was made without the use of a search warrant. Detectives Hamby and Vickery, on orders from Chief Lanford, boarded the train at Marietta.

They had been tipped that an amount of liquor was being brought from Tennessee. Finding Tucker and his five suit cases in a Pullman, they opened the bags and discovered in the neighborhood of forty quarts. Tucker and the whisky were carried to police headquarters upon reaching the city, and yesterday morning he was arraigned before Recorder George Johnson.

The police say that it is in suit cases and on trains from out-of-town points that much of the liquor supplying the secret whisky traffickers in the city is being brought to town. Tucker's was the first arrest. The detectives, who contend they are at liberty to investigate baggage on railroad trains, are preparing to strike a blow at "blind-tigering" by centering their efforts on trains arriving from liquor territory.

SAVE YOUR HAIR AND BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DANDERINE"

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Hair gets beautiful, wavy and thick in few moments.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—(adv.)

Has She Laid or Lied?

Here's a good one:

A young man from a small country town, where the people were plain and honest, was sent off to college.

He graduated in law, came back to his little town, and hung out his shingle.

"Uncle Nat," the town philosopher, met him one day, and inquired how he was getting along.

"Oh, very well," the now rather aesthetic young man replied, "except that I cannot put up much longer with the ignorance of these people. Their ignorance almost racks my nerves. Why, 'Uncle Nat,' actually these folks down here don't know whether a hen sits or sets."

"W-a-a-l-l, that's all right, sonny," drawled the old philosopher; "don't you mind that. These folks down here are just plain, honest, good folks. All they want to know about that hen is, when she cackles has she laid or lied."

That's what most people want to know—about hens or folks.

They want to know if they are square and truthful—particularly when they cackle. They want to know if they can be depended upon.

We folks who are manufacturers here among home people don't claim to be more honest or more truthful than anybody else. But we do claim that we are making good products. That we can be depended upon. That we do not misrepresent our goods. We are employers of home labor. Thousands of home men and women are employed in the making of our goods. We have them made just as good as we know how, and our experience is a big help to us. We are a close and convenient market for southern merchants—and our goods are suitable to the needs of the consumer.

Call for goods made at home. They are just as good—just as reasonable in price.

And, remember, when you spend your money for home-made goods you get a second chance at the same old dollar; when that dollar goes off to foreign markets it's "Good-bye, Mary."

STETSON LOSES TO TECH IN SLOW GAME

Jackets Trailed Opponents for First Eight Innings, Tied in the Ninth and Won in Tenth.

After trailing Stetson for eight innings, Tech tied the game up in the ninth round Tuesday afternoon at Grant field, and won out in the tenth, the final score being 4 to 3. Darkness had settled down over the field and the game would have been called at the end of the tenth, a tie, had not Second Baseman Browning made a careless toss to Allen at first, allowing Preas to reach first safely and Fellers to score with the winning run. There were two out at the time the winning run was scored.

Both teams played poor baseball with neither one deserving to win. Had either played only fair baseball the winner would have been determined without the game going into extra innings.

Barstow was on the mound for the visitors and hurled good ball, his mates not giving him much support. At the least he deserved a tie game, but the men behind him evidently thought otherwise. Although Tech secured nine hits off him, he set them down several times when a hit would have meant a run. He fanned five men and did not walk a one.

With the exception of Bryant, who pitched Monday, Coach Heisman was forced to call his entire hurling corps, including Jim Preas, into the game. Not that Stetson took kindly to the offerings of the Jacket hurlers, for the opposite was the case. Ivens pitched the first inning, but, developing a sore arm, was yanked and Johnson sent in, who stuck out five rounds before his arm went lame. Then Puckett pitched three innings, but gave way to Pinch Hitter Burghard, who came through with the hit that tied the game in the ninth. Preas pitched the tenth inning and retired the side in order.

Game Was Featureless.

With the exception of a nice catch of Barstow's foul back of third by J. Smith in the third inning, the game was featureless.

Allen, first baseman for Stetson, did the best hitting with three hits out of four times up. Preas and Morrison were the only other two men to get more than one hit, each getting two. One of Preas' was a triple to deep center.

Stetson was the first to score, putting a run over in the second. With two down, Gillen walked and scored when Johnson threw wild to Preas after fielding Sunday's tap.

They added another in the third on Gardner's walk, Browning's hit to right, a sacrifice by Allen and the squeeze play with Chalker at the bat.

Stetson scored again in the eighth. Allen singled to left, stole second and took third when Morrison's throw to second went wide. He scored after Morrison dropped the ball after tagging him out when Barstow fanned.

Tech sent one over in the fourth when Spence was safe on a fielder's choice, his steal of second and a hit through the box by Preas. Another was added in the seventh on Preas' triple to center and Puckett's hit down the third base line which he beat out.

The game was tied in the ninth. Hill hit one through Browning too hot to handle and took second on Guill's out. He scored when Burghard, hitting for Puckett, singled.

Tech won out in the tenth on a hit by Fellers, a sacrifice by J. Smith, and a wild throw by Browning of Preas' roller, Fellers scoring on the play.

Every reserved seat for the opening baseball game of the 1917 Southern league season is sold, according to an announcement Tuesday afternoon by Manager Charles Frank, of the Crackers, who says there is going to be the largest crowd at Poncey tomorrow afternoon, that the old field has ever known.

Telephones rang at The Constitution office all during the day Tuesday as Atlanta business men, merchants and manufacturers gave in their names and pledged themselves to shut up shop on the big afternoon to allow every one of their employees, men, women and children, to see the game.

President Ivan Allen, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, issued a circular letter to the entire membership of the organization, requesting that it give its support to the big movement to make opening day by far the greatest even which has ever taken place in the chronicles of Atlanta's baseball.

President Allen's Letter.

"On Thursday afternoon, April 12, at 3 o'clock, the Southern league baseball season opens with a game between the teams of Atlanta and Chatanooga," reads the letter.

"Atlanta is pulling strong, not only for the attendance trophy to be awarded, but to set an attendance record for the Southern league.

"We respectfully request our members in so far as practical, to attend this game and allow their employees to attend. A large number of firms have already agreed to close half day Thursday, and we are informed that Mayor Candler will close the city hall.

"Join the procession and help Atlanta set the attendance record.

(Signed) "IVAN E. ALLEN,
"President Chamber of Commerce."

The biggest note of patriotism on the opening day campaign came Tuesday when Manager E. H. Ginn, of the General Electric company, notified the sporting editor of The Constitution that his offices would close the afternoon of the 12th in order that every one of the 60 employees could see the opener.

The Line Lengthens.

The announcement on the part of M..... was followed by one from L. H. Coy, general manager of the Jacob Dold Packing company, who also asserted that every member of his office force and concern is a loyal baseball fan and will be present to watch the Crackers take the measure of the Lookouts Thursday afternoon.

The street car company and jitney bus drivers have banded together in a mutual welfare league to hall just everybody to the park and from present indications it will take their combined efforts to do it.

The list is growing and by Thursday morning it will be so long that an entire column will be necessary to carry all of the names, but it won't be necessary as the big day will be right "in our midst," and the actions of the Atlanta business men can be seen at Poncey without the need of any list to tell just who's present and who's going to be present.

With every reserved seat sold fans will do well to see that they get admission tickets or they will find that there won't even be a chance for them to roost on top of the big signs out in the field if the rush continues.

Crackers Will Be Pruned for Start Thursday Morning

C. Frank Will Deal Out Pink Slips to Several Who Have Been in the Line-Up for Last Few Weeks.

"Thursday morning I'll tell you ginks who I'll drop and who I won't. Thursday morning I'll tell you who's gonna pitch the opening game and who ain't. Now, clear out o' here and lemme be, because I gotta lot of work to do."

Thus spoke Manager C. Frank to a harmless sporting editor Tuesday afternoon. That's the best we could do.

When approached at Ponce de Leon park Tuesday afternoon, Manager Frank was brousing around in left field, watching Sam fix things in front of the bleachers so chairs could be placed out there to accommodate the big crowd tomorrow.

He was very busy and as soon as he spied the newspaper man begin to fire questions at Sam which almost made that worthy beat a retreat in the vicinity of the creek back of the grandstand.

"Well, what-t-ell do you want?" he saluted the S. E.

"Information," was the cautious reply.

"That's the way with you guys. You can't wait until something starts, but always gotta do a lotta talkin' in advance. What good's it to me, all this prophesyin' and dopin'," was the reply "What do I want with it? Get outa here, I don't know nothin'," was the reply to the one short request for information.

Looking around Manager Frank found us yet present, evidently having had the idea that there would be no one in his vicinity after his outburst, and he began to take the thing seriously. "There's a lot of power to this old thing named "Press" when you have to use it.

"Now, honest kid," began our friend trying a different trail. "Honest now, don't expect me to say who I am going to let go do you?

"It's this way: You see if I should spring out here and tell you fellows what I am going to do in the cutting line, well, the guys who get the pink slips would quit working right now and begin to look around the horizon for something better to do to take up their time. Well, their pep's gone. What if something should happen and one of my best players get sick or hurt. Well, I'd hafta make the guy, with the ticket tied to his coat, come back and work. Well, he'd be a nice ball player, now, wouldn't he?

"See you gotta look at it that way, and as far as knowin' who's gonna pitch the first game or anything like that, why I won't know until the bunch is out here warming up Thursday afternoon, that's straight."

C. Frank was hopeless and after another good look at his broad back as it got under way across the field, he was left to his remarks about sporting editors, and gentry of the type, whom he was steadily consigning to a place lots warmer than Ponce de Leon park.

The pruning, of which we have been asking our big Dutch Enemy, will take place Thursday at noon, he says, officially. The squad will be cut to eighteen men at that time, and Frank can carry eighteen men until thirty days after the season opens, when a second cut will be necessary.

PERRYMAN WILL TWIRL BIRMINGHAM'S OPENER

Birmingham, Ala., April 10.—(Special.)—Manager Carlton Molesworth announced his opening day battery here tonight. Preacher Perryman will twist the opening contest. The lineup follows:

McDonald, 3b; Johnston, 1b; Coombs, lf; Ellis, cf; Clark, 2b; Jansen, rf; Caton, ss; Smith, c; Perryman, p.

Two more men must be cut off the local roster to have the squad down to 18 men by Thursday. Pitcher Roberts and Outfielder Werner will probably be let out by Moley tomorrow. Neither have displayed sufficient form to win a permanent place on the Baronial machine.

Carmen Hill, the big right hander, who wears glasses, will pitch the game Friday against Nashville in the opening contest at Sulphur Dell.

MAJOR LEAGUES TO START RACE TODAY

Pennant Race Inaugurated While Nation Is at War for First Time in History of Either Baseball Organization.

New York, April 10.—Preceded by a forecast of generally fair weather, but low temperature, the major leagues baseball season will be formally o... tomorrow in seven of the sixteen cities composing the National and American league circuits. In the National league, Pittsburg will play at Chicago, St. Louis at Cincinnati and Philadelphia at Brooklyn. The opening game at Boston, with New York, has been declared off because the grounds are covered with snow. On the American circuit, Chicago will open at St. Louis, Cleveland at Detroit, Washington at Philadelphia and Boston at New York.

For the first time in the history of either of these baseball organizations, the pennant races will be inaugurated while the nation is in a state of war. But once in the forty-one years of the senior league existence has war been proclaimed, and in the case of the Spanish-American conflict the declaration was made six days after the beginning of the season. Peace was declared in December of the same year. Since the formation of the American league in 1900, the junior organization has never been confronted with conditions such as prevail today.

The league executives and club owners are loath to predict the effect of the present international complications upon the national game.

In a general way they believe that baseball is facing a fairly prosperous season, but expect the receipts and attendance to fall below estimates made before the developments of the past few weeks. Precedents upon which to base calculations in the present situation are few.

During the Spanish-American war baseball experienced little, if any, setback. Last summer the international league clubs in Canada enjoyed marked prosperity, notwithstanding that a large proportion of young Canadians were in or training for the trenches.

Unusually close races are expected in both leagues. The clubs of both organizations have been strengthened to a point where at least six teams in each circuit are considered real pennant contenders.

Boston, April 10.—The opening game of the National league here, scheduled tomorrow with New York, was postponed today until Thursday, because of bad condition of the field.

SCOTT PERRY WILL REPORT TO ATLANTA

Scott Perry, the big right-handed pitcher, who starred upon the mound for the Crackers last season, will arrive in Atlanta either today or Thursday to rejoin the Crackers for the 1917 season, according to an announcement from Manager Charles Frank Tuesday night.

Perry, who will be remembered with a satisfactory feeling by Atlanta fans, was one of the main bets of the Frank aggregation last season. He was one of the best pitchers in the league and shortly after the 1916 season closed, was taken by the Chicago Cubs on an agreement which the management of that club had with Frank.

"I received a wire from the Cubs late this afternoon" said Manager Frank Tuesday night, "that they were returning Perry to me in accordance with an agreement which I had with them when he went to them.

"The agreement was that they were to take Perry and if they didn't return him by April 10, were to pay me for him. All the telegram said was 'We are returning Perry to you in accordance with our agreement.'

"Am I glad to get the big boy back?" questioned Frank. "Well, I should say I am. That gives me eight pitchers over six feet tall and that's a staff to be proud of, you can believe me.

"I don't know when Scott will get in, but I look for him either Wednesday during the day or early Thursday morning."

The return of Perry puts Frank's chances for the 1917 pennant up another notch. In spite of the fact the Dutchman has a good staff without the big boy, his assistance will be of a value all its own. That means, also, that another pitcher is to be dropped from the club, as room must be made for Scott.

Perry hit .173 last season and held a pitching percentage of .545.

BOYS' HIGH LOSES FAST ENCOUNTER TO PEACOCK NINE

How They Stand.

TEAM.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Fulton High	2	0	1.000
G. M. A.	1	0	1.000
Tech High	1	0	1.000
Boys' High	1	1	.500
Peacock	1	1	.500
Commercial High	0	2	.000
Marist	0	2	.000

By Clark Foreman.

Peacock defeated Boys' High at Piedmont park Tuesday afternoon by the score of 5 to 4. The game was exceedingly fast and both teams played well, but the Gilmer street boys surpassed the Peacock team in every inning except the sixth. Boys' High got nine high school boys.

Nothing happened in the first, but in the latter part of the sesond, Wilson, of Boys' High, singled, and Collins, of the same team, slammed a two-bagger to center-field and Wilson scored, making the score 1 to 0 in favor of the Boys' High school boys.

At the beginning of the sixth Peacock started their rally that won the game for them, making all five of their runs in this one inning. This was started by Cotter, who reached first on the shortstop's error and got to second on the first baseman's error; then McMillan singled, scoring Cotter. Hancock walked and Viener was hit by the pitcher. Alsobrook singled to the outfield, scoring McMillen, and was followed by a mighty three-base hit which Land swatted between center and right-field, scoring Hancock, Viener and Alsobrook.

The stars for the High school team were Cody and Collins, both playing a good game. McMillan and Land excelled for Peacock.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Peacock ..... 000 005 000—5 4 0
Boys' High ..... 010 020 010—4 9 4

Fulton Defeats Marist.

The Fulton High nine defeated the Marist college team yesterday by the count of 3 to 1. The game was hard fought and both sides played well.

The batteries were Snell and Wilson for Fulton High and Cordon and Snell for Marist.

Score by innings: R.
Fulton High ..... 010 002 000—3
Marist ..... 000 100 000—1

G. M. A. Wins Fast Game.

G. M. A. defeated Commercial High Tuesday by the score of 5 to 4, in a good, scrappy game.

TOMORROW IS WORD WITH AWFUL PUNCH

Because It Means the Greatest Day in Atlanta's Baseball History, and That's Going Some.

It seems almost too good to be true, but it is, and just because it is, more than 15,000 fans are going to join as one in rejoicing with appropriate exercises over the official opening of the 1917 Southern league baseball season TOMORROW.

After weary weeks and months of waiting; days when fandom turned deaf ears to all the wiles of basketball, polo, cricket and golf, as well as many other activities, the time has at last arrived when all can have a hand and a voice in supervising the great American game.

Tomorrow Norman ("Kid") Elberfeld and his Chattanooga Lookouts will arrive at Ponce de Leon park and battle with Charley Frank's Crackers. As the battle wages and the chesty players from the mountain fastness of Tennessee go down in defeat, one of the most memorable events in the history of Atlanta will be taking place.

Not Only Game.

It won't be just the winning of the opening game that will will make the occasion one for especial rejoicing, because the day will also be the one on which Atlanta wins the opening day attendance cup, offered by President Robert H. Baugh for the city having the largest crowd at the first game of the season.

Charley Frank, the mogul who is claiming attention as pilot of the Crackers at the present time, says it is going to be a great occasion. Not only is C. Frank going to send his men into the game, each and every one of them bent on winning, with a capital W, but he is also going to pay homage to all the little gods of good fortune on the morning of the 12th, make love to the weather man and shoot his jinx on sight, to boost for the biggest crowd in the history of the city.

Everything at the park is in readiness for the day of days. All of the box, grandstand and bleacher seats have been put down awaiting their occupants and the signboards which adorn the field have been all treated to a new coat of paint. The scoreboard in center field looks like a brand-new lump of coal with a coat of black paint, the white lines standing out in bold relief against the inky background.

The Entrance.

In front of the park the ticket booths have been repainted and put in first class condition, while the new automobile parking space at the side of the club house is being graded in readiness for the automobile fans, who are present on opening day and every other day in the season.

Yea, verily, brother, "Tomorrow" is a mighty word. It holds the fortunes of half Atlanta in its twelve short hours and will spell a hundred things to those who read through the baseball magnifying glass.

"It's going to be the biggest day in the history of the club," said C. Frank Tuesday afternoon, and who is there to doubt the saying of a sage, who, when it comes to baseball, has Omar and all the others put hundreds of miles back on the shady side of life.

Women Begin Second Day's Play in Golf Tourney at Druids

The first round of the ladies' golf tournament was played Tuesday at the Druid Hills Golf club. The second round will be played today and the finals tomorrow.

Tuesday's results were:

First Flight.

Mrs. Beck won from Mrs. P. B. Paine by default.

Mrs. T. T. Williams defeated Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson, 2-1.

Mrs. Collier beat Miss Lillie Drummond, 4-2.

Mrs. C. W. Strickler won from Mrs. R. P. Jones by default.

Second Flight.

Mrs. Howard Muse defeated Mrs. D. Dormand, Jr., 6-5.

Mrs. C. D. Brickwell beat Mrs. George Adair, 2-1.

Mrs. Garland M. Jones defeated Miss C. Zaxner, 7-6.

Mrs. Guy King beat Mrs. L. P. Stallings, 3-2.

ATHLETIC SCHEDULE CANCELLED BY VANDY

Nashville, Tenn., April 10.—(Special.) The Vanderbilt university athletic board board at a meeting today voted to cancel the spring sports program on account of the war crisis. All track and baseball schedules are affected.

ELBERFELD GIVES LINE-UP OF OPENER

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 10.—(Special.)—The Lookouts are ready. Rube Marshall is to open against the Crackers tomorrow with Kitchens behind the bat and they are in shape for the opening game, as are all other members of the team.

"Our pitchers will furnish the biggest surprise of the coming season," Manager Elberfeld promised tonight on the eve of the curtain-raiser.

GEORGIA BATTLES MERCER IN ATHENS THIS AFTERNOON

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—After a different sort of preliminary workout—drilling with the cadets instead of practicing on Sanford field yesterday afternoon and this afternoon, by special orders—the Georgia baseball bunch goes into a battle to the death with Mercer here Wednesday afternoon, the game in Athens having been anteponed account of the cancellation of the Michigan and Virginia games which were to have been played here this week. Georgia goes then to Macon the last of the week to resume the warfare.

Georgia is expecting to have all she can handle in the Baptists, who have made dents in the Tech S. I. A. A. hopes, defeating the Jackets Friday and Saturday of last week, the first game 3 to 1 and the second 3 to 1. In the opinion that they have eliminated Tech from the chance at the rag, the Mercerites come to Athens to do things to Georgia—Georgia had eliminated Auburn from the game while Mercer was handling Tech on another front.

Mercer has a record this year—and so has Georgia, for the Red and Black has been scored on only once—in the first of the double-header of Saturday with Auburn.

Georgia's line-up will be the same as that used against Auburn—the "usual" line-up—and Coach Henderson has not announced whether he will pitch Philpot or Satterfield, one of this pair of twirlers probably to do the work tomorrow.

A WORLD-WIDE ISSUE!

Brazil's break with Germany, following the course of Cuba in declaring for armed resistance to absolutism on the side of Uncle Sam, is altogether gratifying to this country and its allies in the great war.

Next, as now looks probable, Argentina will share in the "new world's" juncture with the entente, and after that it will not be surprising if the entire group of Latin-American republics on this hemisphere follow suit and "make it unanimous!"

And their help is by no means to be despised, nor would it be insignificant; because each is rich in physical resources that could be made of telling avail against a common enemy, and their combined military and naval strength would be a potential factor in speeding up the end.

Cuba, the little infant republic rescued from despotism by the United States, gave the world a splendid example of gratitude and fidelity in being the first of the Latin governments on this side of the ocean to throw whatever strength it possesses into the vortex with our nation, figuratively declaring, like Ruth to Naomi: "Whither thou goest, I will go; whither thou lodgest, I will lodge!" And, while Cuba is too young, and is in no condition to deal a crushing blow herself, her moral support alone, and her example, will count for a lot. And Cuba will never regret the step.

As to the other republics to the south of us, it will be wise and prudent for them to assert their unqualified, and their armed, allegiance to the cause of freedom. It will be better for them and for this country if they do—not singly, but all together. And it is probable that the mere fact of their and our having gone through the fire of war together, linked in a common cause, would effectively efface whatever of racial or commercial jealousy and antipathy they may now harbor against this republic. There is undoubtedly a degree of such feeling at the present time, despite our best efforts in the past to eradicate it.

But looking at the matter as a whole, we are in a world-wide war of democracy against autocracy and "divine right" absolutism, and things have reached a pass where every government of the earth is just about compelled to show its hand and choose sides.

And it will be only logical, as well as extremely gratifying, for the western continents to line up solidly under the banner of democracy.

BETTER THAN TURKISH BATH.

Dr. Brady says that "for the man or woman in reasonably good health, temporarily entertaining some supposedly trifling ailment, it (the Turkish bath) is a delusion and a snare."

He points out the fallacy in the popular notion that the Turkish bath "boils out" whatever poison or deleterious matter might be in one's system, and recommends the woodpile as really a more effective and a much more utilitarian substitute.

There is no gainsaying that in the days of more popular inebriety the system of alternate steaming and cold plunge, par-boiling and massage, was effective as a "braser" after a strenuous "night out." But the public Turkish bath has no necessary place in a sober community.

Of course, folks should perspire as nature intended in order to retain good health; and the citizen whose nearest approach to physical exertion is toiling back in the cushioned seat of a limousine finds the Turkish bath a sufferable makeshift for exercise—and strictly polite and in good form, because it is expensive.

But, as Dr. Brady says, a good, healthy woodpile would serve a better means to the same end. And in this day of stress when "raise more food crops" is the industrial battle-cry from coast to coast, we make bold to suggest the back lot, with a spade, a rake, a hoe and an assortment of "garden sass" seeds, as even a more generally advantageous and patriotic substitute for the Turkish bath, even than the pine knot, ax and maul.

And a bona fide guarantee that it will bring results goes with our prescription!

BROADENING BOSTON.

Because the 1918 convention of the National Education association is to be held in Atlanta and not in Boston, Boston is unhappy.

"Boston," says The Boston Traveler, "will not have the annual convention of the National Education society next year, and Atlanta will have it, because certain Massachusetts delegates to the convention held in Kansas City this year voted in favor of Atlanta against Boston when the final test came," and The Traveler would punish such "disloyal" delegates by making them "pay their own way to Atlanta next year!"

Well, even in that event, they will be more than compensated for the cash outlay, because a trip to Atlanta in itself would, we venture to say, do more to open the eyes of our Boston visitors and do them more real good, than almost anything else in which they might invest their money.

The Traveler says that it was all wrong to bring the N. E. A. convention to Atlanta—when Boston wanted it—because "Atlanta is not an educational center ('Centre' is The Traveler's spelling)—Boston is!"

We hold, with The Traveler's journalistic townsman, The Transcript, that it would be a fine thing all round to work out some sort of an exchange of educators between the north and the south. It will be good for the south to have the New England teachers come down here and see what we have, what we are doing and to absorb some of our good old southern atmosphere. Atlanta certainly will consider it an honor and a pleasure to entertain them, and the visit will be enlightening, instructive, and beneficial in all respects, to our visitors. And they will go back home, we are sure, with a vastly broader viewpoint and better, more tolerant, more whole-country-loving, Americans.

The cold truth of the matter is that Boston is proverbially provincial. It needs to meet people—to broaden out.

So we are glad the Boston teachers are coming to Atlanta next year.

Now, if they will bring the Boston editors with them, our joy will be complete!

THE POTATO FARM.

One of the best signs of a food crop year is the interest in potato growing in this state, as elsewhere in the south.

The Albany (Ga.) Herald, in a recent summary of what is being done to increase the potato acreage in southwest Georgia, said that reports from all sources indicate that this year there will not be a farm in that section without a potato patch; for the recent rise in prices has demonstrated that the potato bank is a fine bank to draw on!

As to the Irish potato as a money-maker in other sections where it is grown extensively, The Worcester (Mass.) Telegram presents these figures:

> A dealer in Presque Isle, Maine, one of the settlement centers of the Aroostook (Irish) potato-producing region, has paid by one check $67,336 for a stock of automobiles of one make this spring. Profits on potato fields in the last year are to pay for these machines and many hundred more of the luxury speeders. There are many other auto dealers in that section close up under the shadow of the great Maine forests. It is told of one young man who desired to become a potato farmer that he borrowed a year ago $7,500 to buy a farm in Aroostook county and then $2,500 more to stock the place. And late in the fall, after selling the potatoes he raised, he paid the lender the entire $10,000 of the debt and showed him $10,000 more he was taking to a bank to save, all made in one season on his new potato farm.

That is, indeed, potato farming for profit, and while it has reference to Irish potato crops, and it is pointed out that it is a record of results "in a rich section of country," we have just as rich soil here at home for the growing of all food crops that mean quick cash returns to the growers. It only needs the effort and the enterprise to make the soil produce abundantly on the diversified plan.

While the south is largely the sweet potato-growing region, as fine Irish potatoes as those of the New England states are grown in the south.

But with a sweet potato patch on every farm, this will indeed be a money-making year to Georgia farmers.

Describing the location of his farm, a successful Georgia farmer who works on the home-supply plan, said that it was "on the highway to the town bank."

And that expressive phrase tells the whole story.

The small consumer, in the home-garden, is wearing that long-absent cheerful look.

"This is the open season for cartoonists and poets," says The Washington Herald. (And there never is an inclination to shoot when they wave "Old Glory.")

A "strategic retreat" by any other name would require just as fast footwork.

In this food crop year you'll very likely glimpse "the grand old gardener and his wife" in their limousine before the town bank.

If Spring is here with the goods she is greatly in need of a house-warming.

And think of hearing "Dixie" and the "Star Spangled Banner" in those far, foreign trenches!

The Alarm Cry.

The Columbus Enquirer-Sun is fighting the food fight every day, in line with this editorial paragraph:

"It is not our purpose to alarm anyone, but to state facts as they present themselves to us at this time. If necessary, however, to induce our people to raise all the foodstuffs they can, we should not hesitate to alarm them. It is better to be alarmed now than to hear our little ones cry for bread a few months hence. And unless we raise foodstuffs we shall be hearing such cries."

The Woman in the Field

By Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture.
(For The Constitution.)

Can we enlist a million American women to do men's work this summer on the farms?

I ask this question because it is possible that this summer the United States may be in as great need of farm laborers as of soldiers or munition makers. But whether the actual opportunity comes this year or not, preparedness of the individual for war or for peace, demands that American farms be ready for every possible emergency.

It is well within the bounds of probability that the available farm labor of the United States will be materially reduced by the calling of many men to other and more hazardous duties than sowing and reaping.

It is physically possible for the farm women of America to aid our economic preparedness in the event that a war summons an immense army to the colors. To handle modern farm implements is not necessarily beyond a woman's strength. With a good team and a riding cultivator equipped with a sun umbrella, plowing corn is a real more pleasant than washing. The spring seat of a binder compares favorably with the comfort of a piano stool. Few household duties are more fun than riding a hay-rack. Even plowing with a sulky plow is not too heavy a strain for some American women.

Every farm girl and woman should proceed at once to master the elements of practical scientific farming. Those who can should attend short courses in agricultural schools and everyone should ask questions, observe, and read bulletins.

The department of agriculture has issued a concise, simple, practical primer of scientific agriculture for the middle west—Farmers' Bulletin No. 704—which can be obtained through congressmen or directly from the agricultural department. Similar bulletins for other regions are now under preparation.

Every farm girl and woman, moreover, should, by all means, take a hand in actual farm operations so as to handle tractors, horses and farm implements readily and skillfully. Those who do so will not have to prepare after the fighting has begun to do their "bit" for their country in time of danger. They will know how to plant, cultivate, and harvest the crops essential to our national welfare when saving them depends upon the service of women in the field.

Let the million women step forward!

By such expedients as these every woman can "prepare" her home not only against war, but also against sickness or hard times.

Skyline Sketches of Atlanta Life

A "Bone Dry" Idyll.

He was breathless and red in the face; and he carried a demijohn of much rotundity.

There was enough room in that jug to bring joy to the parched throats of a hundred victims of the "bone dry" ordinance.

As he passed, perspiring, through the throngs of Peachtree pedestrians, many a nose sniffed the breeze and many an eye was cast longingly after his flying form.

But still he fled, and halted not until he came to the supine form of a motor car which rested by the curb far from a filling station.

Then he turned up the jug, allowed its contents to gurgle gently into the gas tank, gave one tug at the crank, and went thence from there.

And a negro, who had followed him from afar, groaned and sank into his coat collar and out of sight.

"Bone Dry" War Talk.

He took one dose of anti-dry bone for Germany. He took a second dose for Austria. A third dose he took for Hungary. For Turkey he took a fourth dose.

Then, being filled with war spirit, he stood on the corner of Decatur street and the Boulevard Thursday night and made an open-air address that was fired with bellicosity and bristling with expletives. He talked loud and furiously until a cop who was reconnoitering in that section captured him.

This was the story of Ambrose Higginbotham whch was told in the police court Friday afternoon to Councilman William Franklin Buchanan, who was acting recorder.

"We admire your warlike spirit," the councilman told him, "and we honor your patriotism, but it was misplaced and untimely. You can pay a fine of $5.75 and we advise you to enlist at once."

Militia Needed To Guard Restaurants.

It was a food emporium where the viands are passed, piping hot, directly from the fire to the hungry customer.

The place was busy, as was its wont, but unusually quiet, which was not according to the code. The customers sat on their little stools in thoughtful mood, for they had just read the bill of fare. It has come to the point these days where they serve you with bad news both before and after taking.

Very little conversation was heard from the victims, except an occasional order.

Then, above the rattle of dishes, a voice was heard in querulous demand on the waitress: "When are you folks going to get national guard protection?"

"Whatcher mean, protection?" came from the waitress.

"You got to keep this stuff back of a screen like a bank, or else call out the militia to guard you," the voice replied. "Your bill of fare says that this food is too precious to be left in arm-length of a hungry man."

A chorus of assent swept down the counter.

ARTICLE IV.

THE COMPULSORY EDUCATION LAW; THE NEED OF ENFORCEMENT

Perhaps it is because of the fact that Atlanta has been unable to build school houses fast enough to accommodate the large number of children who are anxious to attend school and whose parents desire to give them every educational advantage possible, that the necessity for the enforcement of the compulsory education law has not impressed itself upon the general public.

To the minds of many people, enforcement of the compulsory education law means the employment of officers to gather up from the streets all the idle and vicious boys and girls and drag them into the schools to mingle indiscriminately with innocent and inexperienced youngsters, and so contaminate the carefully nurtured children. They feel that the disadvantages of such enforcement of the law far outweigh the disadvantages of indifference to the law.

As a matter of fact, while provision should be made for these boys and girls by establishing special classes suited to them and their needs, they are a very small proportion of the children out of school, and Atlanta's problem concerns a very different class of junior citizens. It is a very different work that is most needed.

Reports of Conditions.

Literally, hundreds of boys and girls, neither truant nor vicious, are being deprived of an opportunity to acquire an education. Reports on conditions in different sections of the city show that the need of enforcement of the law is general.

In many instances, the principals of the schools have, in addition to their other duties, undertaken the chief work of an attendance officer, namely, that of educating certain parents to the point of realizing their obligations in the matter of providing their children educational opportunities.

Nevertheless, the situation requires enforcement of the law, and an attendance department would do much to remedy present conditions.

In one school neighborhood a canvass of only three blocks revealed the fact that twenty-seven children, between the ages of seven and fourteen, were being unlawfully deprived of even the rudiments of an education; the report from another section showed twenty-one children belonging in the third grade or below, out of school in violation of the law; the principal of another school discovered in her school district forty-seven children whose parents were paying no heed to the compulsory education law of Georgia. Eight of these children, ranging in ages from seven to eleven, have never crossed the threshold of a school; in another part of Atlanta, fifty-four children were found who were out of school without satisfactory excuse, while in the same section of the city, but in a different school neighborhood, ninety-nine children were disobeying the law.

Need for Enforcement.

These are a few of the reports that serve to show the need of enforcement from the standpoint of our schools.

From almost every public school in Atlanta children have been taken and put to work to contribute to the support of their families. This year, from the second grade alone, over thirty children have been removed by their parents and put to work. In one instance, a delicate little girl of ten joined the army of wage-earners in spite of the efforts of the principal of the school.

Frequently children are kept at home to work, in order that the parents may have greater leisure.

In certain communities all the children are enrolled in school, perhaps, but some attend only at the convenience of their parents. Two boys are now suspended from a school in an excellent neighborhood, because of sixty absences and five half absences on the part of one, and fifty-four absences and one half absence on the part of the other, without satisfactory excuse. The school received no co-operation from the home, though the parents were appealed to by notes, by telephone, by personal interviews and official warnings. This was a case to be handled by an attendance officer.

The statements in regard to the number of children being unlawfully deprived of educational opportunities are based upon the personal knowledge of the principals and teachers. The names and addresses of these children may be had at any time. How many others there may be in the city who are growing up in ignorance because of the fact that they are not being forced to obey the compulsory education law, only a census could determine.

A Woman Teacher Joins in Protest Against Inadequate Pay

Editor Constitution: I have just read with interest the communication from L. F. Scott, of Decatur, on the question of teachers' pay. Being one of Georgia's rural teachers I should like to say a little, as I do not know whether the party knows all, as we do, or not. He says we are not as well paid as porters are. No, indeed, we are not. The average of the rural teachers' pay is $40 per month for six months per year, while the porter works twelve months and receives his pay regularly, either at the end of the week or month, while we are required to wait for our money sometimes six months or more, and then, when it comes, 'tis in such little amounts that you hardly know you've gotten it. I have had to wait thirteen months before I'd get it all. Even now, as I write, I am due money for work done last July and August in Fayette county. I've been teaching in Spalding since December 1, 1916, and have received up to date the magnificent sum of $75! It is rarely given to us without asking for it, and then as soon as we get it it must be paid out for the actual necessities of life. We can go to the banks, if we get in a tight and borrow $50 or $100 for six months at 1 per cent per month, or discount it; but, that makes it harder on us, because the money that must go for the interest could be kept in our pockets, if we were paid in full monthly, which is rarely done—as last year, from the salaries of the principal and his assistant (amounting to $90) $15 was kept back every month. Our term was contracted for seven months, but we were notified that only six weeks would be taught in the summer as money was short. Of course, we understood that, it was to pay the interest—that we were to lose two weeks' work—and the teachers indirectly pay the interest on the money by shortening the length of school term. Now this year, in a school of more than seventy pupils, where last year the salaries were respectively $90 and $50, they have been cut to $85 and $45. For what? For no other purpose than to make the teachers pay the interest on the money. It is that way with us and still we are expected to dress so as to be presentable at all times, care for our teeth, eyes and pay board—if we have to go from home to teach—take school literature in order to keep abreast of the times, attend institute meetings in the summer at any place designated by our school supervisor, pay board there, all out of a niggardly $40 or $45 per month—four, five or six months in the year, as the case may be—for some assistants only work four months during the winter, when the school is full.

This, Mr. Editor, is only a part of it, and still we are expected to, and do, work eight hours per day, twenty days per month, and then cannot collect what is due us for our work for months after the work is finished. Do the members of the Georgia legislature have to wait for their per diem, or is it paid promptly? I have often wondered, but do not know. Or is it only the old vets, God bless them, and the school teachers, pity them, who must wait and have it doled out to them as though they were being granted a favor for allowing them to teach and then pay us for it!

I have never believed in the ballot for women, but the teachers of Georgia ought to rise up and see if something cannot be done for them in order to keep us from having to go to the banks for our money and paying the interest we do. Understand, we are grateful to the banks for their courtesies, for I for one have borrowed and paid back many a dollar when if I couldn't have gone to the bank and borrowed, I and my children would have had to go without things we needed, had I had to wait on my money from the state. Can't something be done? It is some better, though, now, thanks to Governor Harris, and I trust Governor Dorsey may endeavor to make it more so. This has long been a theme over which I have thought and wanted to express myself upon, and I just had to "speak out in meetin'," after reading the above mentioned article.

Will the teachers uphold me in this and say "them's my sentiments, too?"

Agrees With Contitution In Home Ownership Advice

Editor Constitution: Please permit me to express my appreciation of your most excellent editorials in which you advise the young men and women of Atlanta to own a home.

Most certainly the young man or woman of today who does not make some provision for the "rainy day," sickness, or old age, is making a fearful mistake. The best way to avoid this mistake is to own a home!

Thanking you for your most excellent articles along this line, and assuring you of my very great appreciation of your most excellent paper, I remain,

"Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys!"

Editor Constitution: The time has come for brave, true men who know and love the right, to buckle sword and armor on and for their country fight. No foreign foe can sink our ships and thus our wrath excite, for "Uncle Sam" is on the job and ready, day or night. Let those beware who even dare to sink a single boat, for as sure as guns are made of iron, our boys will "get their goat." The wicked, submarining gang, who murder helpless people and claim the ocean as their own, should hang on some church steeple. No time to lose; now let us choose the way we want to fight—on land or sea; all who are free should rally for the right.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Raynaud's Disease.

The condition variously known as "dead fingers," local anesthesia, symmetrical gangrene or Raynaud's disease, is observed in mild, moderate and severe types.

The mild type is quite popular, I gather from the plaints of readers. The patients suffer for years from cold hands and feet, and eventually begin to complain of tingling in fingers and toes and blueness of feet and hands when they become cold. After exposure to heat the fingers or toes throb and ache, become congested and tense and swollen, and it takes a long time for them to become normal. Many cases are mistaken for chilblains. In warm weather the trouble is much less annoying, though not always entirely absent.

The moderate type begins with numbness and tingling of one or more fingers. Later on these fingers will become white and cold upon the slightest exposure to cold, and remain so for hours, after which they become blue and congested, then red and warm and painful. This series of changes is due to spasm of the radial artery. The pulse may be felt to be smaller during the attack. Occasionally, after such an attack, the finger or fingers will remain blue and painful and perhaps actual gangrene of the fingers will follow.

In the severe form of Raynaud's disease gangrene occurs in the early months of the trouble. Not only the fingers or toes, but sometimes the ears and tip of nose are also involved. Rarely the whole foot or hand has been involved in the gangrenous process.

It is curious, and perhaps suggestive that hives (urticaria), purpura (scurvy), sever abdominal colic and other symptoms of an oversecretion by the adrenal gland are frequently noted in cases of Raynaud's disease. It may be that the patient is a victim of some form of protein sensitization, though we have no positive knowledge of the cause of the condition. For that matter, we have no positive knowledge of the cause of "rheumatism" until we search for and discover the septic focus in each individual case.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

How to Manage the H. M. F. B.

Will you kindly direct how a hot mustard foot bath may be administered to a patient in bed, as you stated that is the only safe and proper way. (L. S. H.)

ANSWER—The patient, stripped, is placed in bed between blankets. He is given a glassful or two of very hot lemonade or ginger tea or any hot drink which encourages sweating. If there is some acute infection with feverishness, he may be given a teaspoonful of sweet spirits of niter in a little cold water just before the hot drink. A cold cloth should be kept on the forehead throughout, and changed occasionally, to prevent the patient from getting restless and kicking off the blankets. Double the knees up under the blankets, and place a foot-tub half full of very hot water in which a tablespoonful of mustard is stirred, in the bed. Gently but firmly thrust the feet in it. If patient swears, either in words or looks, make it a bit hotter by cautiously pouring in hotter water from a pitcher. Lave the legs continuously, and as water cools off, dip out some and replace with hotter water. After fifteen minutes take away tub, dry feet, put hot water bottle in bed, tuck patient in, pile on everything in sight and see that he does not come up for air inside of half an hour. Let him sweat for his sins about an hour. Then remove the damp blankets, dry him off (alcohol and water bath is good), and leave him to ruminate on the trials of this life. There is no danger of one "taking cold" after a hot mustard foot bath. But the reason why it should be given only in bed is that little or no perspiration is produced by a bath taken sitting up, and fainting is likely to occur.

DUBLIN FIGHTING FOR NIGHT TRAINS

Matter Discussed Without Definite Result Between Dublin Chamber and Assistant Agent Beam, of the Southern.

Dublin, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—A frank, open discussion of both sides of the fight Dublin is making for the establishment of through night passenger service from Atlanta to Savannah via the Southern, the Macon, Dublin and Savannah and the Seaboard railroads, characterized a conference here today between the chamber of commerce and J. C. Beam, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern. Both the Macon, Dublin and Savannah and the Seaboard have agreed to handle the trains when the Southern is ready to put on its portion between Atlanta and Macon.

Mr. Beam told business men that a Savannah sleeper attached to a regular train of the Southern at night to Macon is not feasible because of the irregularity of schedules of these trains and because it would not give service such as would receive a share of through business. The Southern, he said, will not attempt through service unless it can offer the same class of service as the opposition road. Just now it does not think the proposition would pay.

Say Train Would Pay.

Business men here maintained that through business is growing enough to warrant an additional train, that the traveling public is badly inconvenienced by present arrangement by way of Dublin, that the new service would mean additional freight tonnage for the Southern as well as passenger business, and since the matter has been discussed for five years, some definite answer must be given. Mr. Beam agreed to arrange a conference with W. H. Taylor, general passenger agent of the Southern, and representatives from Dublin in Atlanta soon, when the matter is to be threshed out again. Dublin will make an effort to get help from Savannah, Macon and Atlanta in this fight, as well as from traveling men, who are much inconvenienced. The date of the conference has not been decided yet, but Dublin is preparing to make a strong showing.

Earlier Efforts Failed.

For years the people of Dublin have been endeavoring to get a through train service at night from Atlanta to Savannah over the Southern to Macon, over the Macon, Dublin and Savannah to Vidalia and over the Seaboard to Savannah. One chamber of commerce after another has taken the matter up and urged that the train be put on, showing the benefits it would be both to the road and to the public, but for some reason it has been impossible to get the roads interested enough to hold a conference on the matter until during the past six months.

This night service between Atlanta and Savannah via the Southern, Macon, Dublin and Savannah and Seaboard would mean that a shorter route by 33 miles would be established for travel from Georgia's capital city to the seacoast. It will serve a section of country which has been in need, badly, for several years of a through night service each way to three of Georgia's most important cities, and it will give the traveling public the choice of a shorter line with a faster schedule and a corresponding decrease in the price of through tickets. From Macon to Vidalia is a tremendous stretch of magnificent country, which is entirely cut off from the outside world by rail at night. There is no way to get in or out of Dublin after 8:30 at night by rail now, and there has not been any way for years. As it is now, to get to Dublin from Atlanta at night it is necessary to either go to Macon and spend the night, catch the Macon, Dublin and Savannah at 7 o'clock and reach Dublin at 9:10, or go to Tennille by the Central, spend a portion of the night there and reach Dublin at 9 o'clock the next day. Dublin has needed this through service badly, and has needed it a long time.

Train Service Desired.

The general plan for the train service which the people of this section are asking the Southern to put on, is for the Southern to haul out of Atlanta on its 9:15 train a sleeper for Savannah, to be turned over to the M., D. & S. at Macon, when the Southern reaches that city about 12 o'clock. At Macon the M., D. & S. would take the Atlanta sleeper, with a sleeper from Macon to Savannah, a day coach and make up a train which it will handle to Vidalia, the junction point of this road with the Seaboard. From Vidalia the Seaboard would take the train into Savannah. The only stops for the proposed train after it leaves Macon would be at Dublin and Vidalia, and it will reach Savannah about 5 a. m.

From Savannah the Seaboard would take a train with two sleepers to Vidalia, where the M., D. & S. would take charge and move it to Macon, stopping at Dublin on the route. At Macon the through sleeper from Savannah would be attached to the regular Southern train due to reach Atlanta about 6 o'clock in the morning. The train going north from Savannah would pass Dublin about 12 o'clock, while the train going south from Atlanta would reach here about 2 a. m.

Should the service be put on, there will be a big increase in travel between Dublin and Atlanta by the Southern.

A business man can take a sleeper in Dublin about 12 o'clock at night, get to Atlanta for breakfast, spend the day in that city on business and catch a sleeper for Dublin the next night, giving him the advantage of traveling both ways at night, on a fast schedule and having an entire day to attend to business. As it is now, it requires half a day to travel to Atlanta, where he is compelled to spend the night and wait until next day to attend to business. When he gets ready to come back, he can catch a night train to Macon, snatch a little sleep at a hotel there, and catch a train for Dublin, reaching here at 9:15, when at least a quarter of the day has been lost, and he is in no mood to get down to hard work. Perhaps no city in the state has a more awkwardly arranged schedule.

LUCAS, WHO SLEW WIFE, IS SAVED FROM GALLOWS

Macon, Ga., April 10.—Special.)—Bunyon O. Lucas, convicted of the murder of his wife, Mrs. Ida O. Lucas, and under sentence of death on April 13, today had his sentence commuted by Governor Harris to life imprisonment.

Lucas received the news without emotion, though he declared at no time since he had been in the death cell had he given up hope of being saved from the gallows.

Lucas shot and killed his wife at their home on Boundary street two years ago. He was tried shortly after Miss Rosa Margaret Eubanks was killed by D. B. Branam on Second street, and the point was raised in his behalf that public sentiment was so aroused by the Eubanks killing that Lucas did not have a fair trial. A confession alleged to have been made by Lucas, that he killed his wife, was also attacked by the defense on the ground that it was not freely and voluntarily given. Lucas never denied killing his wife, but claimed that he found her with another man and in a scuffle over a pistol she was killed.

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

Representative Barfield, of Bibb county, who was in Atlanta Tuesday, announced that he proposes to renew his fight for the passage of the Torrons land title bill at the next session of the legislature. He urges the establishment of farm loan banks as an additional reason why the bill should pass.

The East Lake Women's club will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. David W. Webb. The meeting will be a patriotic one. Mrs. T. J. Godern will speak on "The National League of Women's Service," and Mrs. Victor Cluis will give instructions for a first-aid class of the Red Cross. All of the members are urged to be present.

There was held a special meeting of the program and other committees of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of Georgia in Atlanta on Tuesday. Many important matters concerning the textile industry of the state were taken up at the meeting and final arrangements were made for the convention to be held at St. Simon's island, June 8, 9 and 10. Among those who attended the special meeting Tuesday were W. J. Vereen of Moultrie, H. P. Meikleham of Lindale, J. D. Massey of Columbus, W. H. Hightower of Thomaston, T. J. Callaway of Milstead, C. W. Chears of Chattanooga, P. E. Glenn, Lee Jordan and L. L. Arnold of Atlanta.

The supreme court, in an opinion handed down Tuesday in the case of Griffin against Sission, upon a point certioraried from the court of appeals, held that an appeal cannot be made directly from the municipal court of Atlanta by writ of error to the supreme court of the state, but must go by way of the superior court.

The central council of Social Workers will hold a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Chamber of Commerce building.

Preparatory to the coming public meeting to be held Friday week by the ordinance committee of council to consider further regulations in regard to the parking of automobiles and vehicles on city streets, members of the ordinance committee met Tuesday afternoon in the offices of Chairman A. J. Orme to discuss proposed parking changes. According to Mr. Orme the committee will not consider any change or make any change in the present traffic laws of the city, but only in certain sections of the traffic provisions which apply to the parking of vehicles.

In three habeas corpus cases carried up from Fulton superior court, the state supreme court Tuesday handed down a decision holding that Atlanta's city ordinance against keeping liquor on hand or on hand for sale is covered by the state prohibition laws.

The Church club of the Church of Epiphany in Inman Park will formally organize this evening at the home of John M. Miller, Miller avenue, Edgewood Heights. The organization has been under way for two months and the meeting tonight is the first definite step taken. The purpose is declared to be "to keep the old young and to entertain the young."

Lyle, second color sergeant; finance committee, J. C. Watson, R. S. Osburn and H. D. McCutheon.

Nearly all of the members expect to attend the reunion next June in Washington.

NATIONAL GUARD TO RECRUIT AGAIN

Orders Expected From Washington to Recruit the Georgia Regiments Up to Full War Strength—Boys Anxious to Join.

Colonel Orville H. Hall, commanding the fifth regiment, Georgia national guard, and other national guard commanders in Atlanta were waiting last night for orders from Washington to recruit their respective commands to war strength.

These expectations are based upon news dispatches from Washington to the effect that plans for recruiting the national guard have been perfected and that orders have been sent out informing adjutant generals no new units of the guard will be recognized except for the purpose of completing divisional organization of present establishments.

This seems to mean that no volunteer commands are to be accepted now, but that all recruiting will go to bringing the regular army and the national guard units to war strength.

The Georgia military officials will welcome the order to recruit heartily. They feel that there will be no difficulty in obtaining the required number of men. In fact, large numbers of young men desiring to recruit have been rather restive under the recent orders from Washington stopping recruiting of the national guard.

The fifth regiment now has about 850 men, while war strength will mean that it must recruit to about 1,400 men.

Jesup Negro Teacher Would Raise Company Of Soldiers for Army

Jesup, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Professor Ira S. Bryant, principal of the colored public schools of Jesup, in an interview today declared absolutely that the negroes of Jesup would stand loyal to the call of President Woodrow Wilson in spite of any influence that might be brought to bear upon them.

Bryant further stated that he was ready at any moment to respond with a company of Jesup's negroes to a call for volunteers. He made special inquiry to see if the government would not grant him dispensation to establish a company.

OLD SOLDIER BURIED TUESDAY IN THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.—George W. Herring, a former well-known resident of this city, died yesterday at the Old Soldiers' home in Atlanta and his body was brought here today for interment. Mr. Herring was about 80 years of age and was taken to the home a year or two ago. He is survived by one brother, B. F. Herring, of this city.

WEST POINT NEGROES LOYAL TO THE FLAG

Adopt Resolutions at Big Mass Meeting Attended by Whites and Blacks.

West Point, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) A big mass meeting of negroes was held here tonight at which resolutions were adopted pledging the aid and assistance of the race to the country. Many prominent white men were invited and attended the meeting.

The negroes stated that they had been approached by persons who urged them to leave West Point and Georgia before June 1, but stated that they had turned a deaf ear to these parties. Rev. Coppedge, pastor of the negro Baptist church, presided, and introduced the speakers. Prominent negroes of this city were the spokesmen for their race. Over 2,000 negro men from every section of the town and county attended the meeting.

After the negro speakers had pledged the loyalty of their race to the Stars and Stripes, and after the resolutions had been passed, several prominent white citizens of West Point made talks. Mayor John T. Johnson, Professor W. C. Thomas, Mark McCullough, R. Avery, Trox Bankston, Jim Coffee, C. W. Sharman and Dr. J. W. Poe were among those who assured the negroes that they did not doubt their loyalty and expected them to do their share in upholding the honor of their country.

It is believed that the mass meeting last night will be followed by the enlistment of quite a number of West Point negroes in the service.

Adams and Hicks Chosen to Attend Rotary Board Meet

At a meeting of the executive committee on the International Rotary convention in June, which was held in the Chamber of Commerce building yesterday, Albert S. Adams and Louis D. Hicks were appointed to represent the committee at the next board meeting in Philadelphia, April 18.

They will carry with them the tentative program of entertainment for the convention which they will go over with the Rotary officers and the final form of the program will be determined at the meeting. The convention promises to be the biggest and most enthusiastic ever held in Atlanta with the possible exception of the Shrine convention in 1915.

One of the main attractions of the meeting will be the patriotic features in which leading business men from all parts of the country, who are doing all they can to back the government in the war, will participate.

DR. MARVIN PARKS TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Milledgeville, Ga., April 9.—(Special.) Dr. Marvin Parks, president of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college, left for Philadelphia yesterday, where he will deliver an address at the National Conference of Educators which meets at the University of Pennsylvania. He will also be on the program for an address at the conference of educators the latter part of the week at Rock Hill, S. C.

Northeast Georgia Strongly Organized For Preparedness

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special.—At special meetings and conferences Sunday, yesterday and last night, the chamber of commerce and the city council, calling to their aid the leading men of the educational institutions, business and professional circles, and from the farmers of the territory nearby, have planned a series of parades and rallies looking toward preparedness for Clarke, Jackson, Oconee, Madison and Oglethorpe counties.

Wednesday at noon twenty-five hundred school children from the city schools will assemble at the Octagon assembly hall on the university campus. Saturday afternoon there will be a patriotic parade of 700 university cadets, as many state normal students, two thousand public school students and dozens of organizations of the city, to express their patriotism and hear common sense talks from Dr. A. M. Soule and Dr. J. M. Pound.

Sunday afternoon there will be a great rally at the Octagon, when more than three thousand citizens will meet, and another at Morton Opera house for the colored people. Both meetings are to be addressed on the importance of planting gardens and raising chickens. Speakers from the college of agriculture will cover five counties preaching food-raising and food-economy. Every preacher in the city and county, white and colored, has promised to urge these matters at the Sunday services.

Personal letters and printed matter urging food production and conservation will be sent to the head of every family in the five counties and committees are to be organized for all divisions of the work.

Systematically and thoroughly the territory will be covered, with the hope that the example will be followed by every other community in the state.

Smith Named for Judge.

Washington, April 10.—Former Representative William R. Smith, of Texas, has been selected by President Wilson for the new United States district judgeship recently created in the western district of Texas. The nomination will be sent to the senate tomorrow.

Explorer Shackleton Honored.

New York, April 10.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer, it was announced today, has been elected to the honorary fellowship of the American Museum of Natural History, the highest scientific honor that the institution can bestow.

You Can Make Excellent Cake with Fewer Eggs

Just use an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

This applies equally well to nearly all baked foods. Try the following recipe according to the new way:

CREAM LAYER CAKE

Old Way	New Way
1 cup sugar	1 cup sugar
½ cup milk	1 cup milk
2 cups flour	2 cups flour
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder	4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
3 eggs	1 egg
½ cup shortening	2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon flavoring	1 teaspoon flavoring

Makes 1 Large 2-Layer Cake

DIRECTIONS—Cream the sugar and shortening together, then mix in the egg. After sifting the flour and Royal Baking Powder together two or three times, add it all to the mixture. Gradually add the milk and beat with spoon until you have a smooth pour batter. Add the flavoring. Pour into greased layer cake tins and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty minutes. This cake is best baked in two layers. Put together with cream filling and spread with white icing

Benefit Card Party.

A card party will be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Ansley hotel for the benefit of the Sisters of Mercy at the Immaculate academy. Many tables have been reserved and the occasion promises to be a very enjoyable one.

There is a prize for each table, a top score bridge prize, a eucher and a lucky number prize. Among the ladies who are taking an active part are:

Mrs. LaHatte, Mrs. R. Otis, Mrs. J. Holliday, Mrs. J. W. McArthur, Mrs. Mahoney, Mrs. P. Rapier, Mrs. F. Donehoo, Miss L. Burke, Mrs. Dealy, Mrs. S. H. Luckett, Mrs. J. J. Doonan, Mrs. Rogers, Miss LaHatte, Mrs. Ellen Ryan, Mrs. Joseph Hines, Mrs. Mae McAlpin, Miss K. Lyons, Mrs. W. Wrigley, Mrs. J. Masselbrug, Mrs. Frederick Young, Miss E. Cawley, Mrs. J. P. Allen, Mrs. J. F. McGarry.

Luncheon for Miss Cooper.

Mrs. Clem Harris entertained at a pretty luncheon yesterday at her home on Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Jennie Inman Cooper, of Philadelphia, who is the guest of Mrs. Samuel Inman. The artistic centerpiece of the table was a tall silver vase filled with pink tulips and white and lavender lilacs. Silver candelabra held pink tapers under pink shades and the place cards were hand-painted figures of girls in old-fashioned gowns.

Mrs. Harris wore black satin and lace combined, and Mrs. J. D. Osborne, who assisted her mother in entertaining, was gowned in blue and black taffeta combined with Georgette crepe.

The guests were Miss Cooper, Miss Katherine DuBose, Miss Margaret Grant, Miss Marian Atchison, Miss Hellen McCarty, Miss Dorothy Arkwright, Miss Isabel Robinson, Miss Harriet McDaniel, Miss Josephine Mobley.

Children's Party.

A happy occasion of yesterday afternoon was the tea-dance at Druid Hills Golf club given by Miss Mary Ann Lipscomb, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Lipscomb. The tables encircling the ballroom were decorated with baskets of spring flowers.

The children invited were:

Misses Adeline Winston, Jeannette McLeary, Elizabeth Hoyt, Martha Boynton, Martha Hodgson, Jennie Hodgson, Harriet Shedden, Mary Shedden, Elizabeth McGinty, Mary McCarty, Jean Williams, Dorothy Spies, Eloise Allen, Vincentia Allen, Callie Orme, Pamela Johnston, Virginia Campbell, Bessie Mitchell, Will Hawkins, Alice Callaway, Frances Marie Brown, Erskine Jarnigan, Mary Cooley Armstrong, Virginia Hilton, Florence Boykin, Mary Anne Pedder, Phoebe Rhett, Theodosia Owens and Edward Van Winkle, Thomas Hinman, Jr., E. B. Strickland, Marcus Brown, Nesbit Marye, Atwood Cole, William Morrow, Bert Harless, Wadley Glenn, Edward Winston, Leon Mandeville, Ernest McCullough, Guy Carpenter, Jr., George Moore, Rutherford Ellis, Lamar Ellis, George Forrester, Jr., William Prescott and Colquitt Carter, Jr.

For Miss Brady.

Mrs. Roy D. McGaughey entertained delightfully at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue, in compliment to Miss Elizabeth Brady, a bride-elect. Ferns and Easter lilies prettily decorated the rooms, and details of refreshments served after the game were in wedding suggestions.

Mrs. J. S. Cameron and Mrs. C. B. McGaughey assisted in entertaining. Mrs. Roy McGaughey wore a becoming gown of blue voile and taffeta combined, and Miss Brady wore brown Georgette crepe over yellow satin, with hat to match.

The guests included Miss Kathleen Law, Miss Mary Burr Lake, Miss Sue Rae Symes, Miss Lottie Stopfer, Miss Kathleen Bleckley, Miss Margaret Booth, Miss Loretta Booth, Miss Margaret Waldron, Miss Lena Waldron, Miss Ruby McGaughey, Miss Annie Cameron, Miss Helen Looney, Miss Frances Noyes, Mrs. Milton Candler, Mrs. David Hall, Mrs. Lewis Rosser and Mrs. Tuck Callaway.

Monsalvatge-Avera.

The marriage of Miss Edna Monsalvatge and Mr. Arch Upshaw Avera, of Anniston, Ala., took place yesterday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Comforter, Dean Thomas H. Johnston officiating.

The church was artistically decorated with a profusion of dogwood, ferns and Easter lilies. The altar was banked with ferns and Easter lilies, out of which rose candelabra burning white tapers.

Miss Helen Schard played the wedding march.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Harrington Wilson, wore a becoming traveling suit of blue cloth with hat of old rose and her flowers were a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

Mr. Evan Butler was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Avera left for a wedding trip in Alabama and later will be at home in Birmingham.

Matinee Party.

Mrs. Ransom Wright entertained at a matinee party Monday afternoon in compliment to Miss Edgarda Horton. The guests included Miss Margaret Wilkinson, Miss Irene Hart, Miss Anne Hart, Miss Nora Stirling and Miss Fredrica Wade.

Tea-Dance.

The regular midweek tea-dance will be a bright event of the afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club.

Mr. and Mrs. Strother Fleming will entertain for Miss Estelle Royster, of Washington, D. C., the guest of Mrs. Fred Hoyt. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cowles will give a party for Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pulsifer, of New York. Mrs. John H. Andrews and others will have guests.

Col. Lynes Weds Miss Winn

The marriage of Miss Kate S. Winn, of Marietta, to Colonel J. Colton Lynes, of Atlanta, took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the residence of the bride, Whitlock avenue, Marietta, Rev. Randolph S. Claiborne performing the ceremony.

The announcement will be of pleasurable interest throughout the state, the bride representing a family old and distinguished, and Colonel Lynes, since his residence in Georgia, identified with the educational life of the state. The bride is the sister of the late State Senator Winn, who served his state admirably in the thirty-fifth senatorial district, in which Atlanta is located. She is charming and cultured and presides over one of the most hospitable old homes in Marietta. Colonel Lynes is a native of South Carolina, but for many years has been a loyal and chivalrous citizen of Georgia—the state of his adoption.

Colonel and Mrs. Lynes will be at home in Marietta.

RECRUITS TO BE SENT TO FORT M'PHERSON

Lieutenant Colvocoresses and his aides were busy all day enlisting men and late Tuesday night the line of applicants still waited outside seemingly undiminished. It was reported in the evening that approximately 65 new men had been enlisted and the enlisting officers were still busy.

In the navy department Lieutenant Keller and his aides were equally as busy through the day and night as were the officers of other branches. The navy requirements are somewhat more stringent than the requirements of the other branches and for this reason more care and more time is necessary in the examination. The result is that many applicants who are examined fail to reach the required degree and have to be refused for the service.

TO ENLIST NEGROES.

Tuesday also witnessed a broadening of the regulations regarding enlistments in the army, following an order from Washington to Captain Heidt to enlist immediately all negroes who were capable of service. Many applications have been made at the recruiting stations of the city by negroes seeking to "do their bit," but under orders as they were previous to Tuesday night their services could not be accepted.

Beginning this morning a recruiting sub-station for the army to care for negro volunteers will be opened at 40 Walton street. This station will be in charge of officers under the direction and supervision of Captain Heidt and will be conducted separately from the other recruiting offices. Many negroes have denoted their intention to join the army at the first opportunity, and today is expected to see a rush at the new station.

Among the orders received Tuesday by the army recruiting officer was one which, it seems, tends to mitigate the severity of examinations under certain conditions.

The new order states that maximum age requirements and educational qualifications do not apply to enlistments for the regular army in time of war and authorizes the acceptance of applicants up to 40 years of age who can speak English. These, of course, are subject to regular examination at military depots. It authorizes the acceptance of any whom the recruiting officer believes physically fit. This change, it is stated, does not apply to recruits for the militia. Further, the order states:

"Enlistments of applicants under 16 years of age will not be made without special authority from this office. All applicants under 18 years of age must have parental consent.

Negro recruits will be sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., to train, according to Captain Heidt.

Patriotic Employers.

An instance showing the spirit of Atlanta employers in the recruiting campaign occurred in the offices of Lieutenant Keller Tuesday, when Charles L. Weeks, an employee of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, returned to the recruiting station after resigning his place following his enlistment Monday.

This young man on announcing to his employer, H. C. Fisher, manager, that he had enlisted, received congratulations and a check for $50 as a present from the company. At the same time, reported the young man, Mr. Fisher called the office force together and urged that as many as could do so should follow Weeks' action.

To supply second lieutenants for the marine corps, it has been announced, special examinations will be held soon for applicants over 20 years and under 30 years who have by service or education qualified for the places.

Those having the following requirements will be given preference, it is stated:

First—Civilians with prior military experience in a regular service who have satisfactory education.

Second—Graduates of distinguished military colleges.

Third—Graduates of military schools or colleges that had at the time of attendance of applicant an army officer detailed as instructor of military tactics.

Fourth—Graduates of recognized colleges or universities.

Fifth—Other civilians with prior military experience.

Examining boards will be appointed in various parts of the United States to conduct these examinations and candidates will be designated by letter to appear before them. Appointments will continue only so long as the emergency for which they are made lasts.

Visits Soperton Schools.

Soperton, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—State Superintendent Brittain attended the meeting of the Montgomery County Teachers' association held here recently and delivered an interesting address. Professor B. H. McLarty and his faculty, of Soperton, entertained Mr. Brittain.

KNOXVILLE BOOSTERS GET HEARTY GREETING

Are Making Tour of Piedmont Section to Stimulate Recruiting.

The Knoxville boosters arrived in Atlanta last night at 8 o'clock on their great preparedness tour through north Georgia, the western half of the Carolinas and the Piedmont region generally. They leave Atlanta tonight.

They have a special train consisting of five Pullman and two dining cars. The party includes 136 members of the Knoxville Board of Trade. The military band of the University of Tennessee is accompanying them. Some of Knoxville's ablest speakers are along pleading at the various stops on the route for loyalty to the president in the war. United States officials from the navy and army departments are also in the party, distributing recruiting literature and doing their share in urging men to enlist for the army and navy.

The train flies a large banner with the inscription "Our government first—then Knoxville." The party made fifteen stops from Knoxville to Atlanta and found an enthusiastic welcome awaiting them at every stop. In some places all business was discontinued while the boosters were holding their celebration. Twenty thousand flags are to be distributed along the route, and they hope to create a greater patriotic sentiment among the people of the states through which they pass.

The journey will cover 1,206 miles, the train leaving Knoxville Tuesday morning and returning to that city Saturday. The train is being conducted under strict military rules. Colonel L. D. Tyson is in charge of the train and each car is in command of a captain.

Upon their arrival in the city the Knoxville party paraded through the uptown streets, then marched to the chamber of commerce, where Victor H. Kriegshaber, in the absence of Ivan Allen, welcomed them to Atlanta. Other speakers were Judge H. H. Lindsay, Dr. W. H. Richards, Colonel Robert Lowry, Professor Harry Clark and Major Saffarans, of the Seventeenth infantry.

The newspaper men accompanying the party are J. W. Falconnier, of The Knoxville Sentinel, and Earl Crew, of The Knoxville Journal-Tribune.

PATRIOTIC FILMS STIR ENTHUSIASM OF FORSYTH PATRONS

If there's a man with a soul so dead that he gains no inspiration from the flutter of flags and the strains of our national anthem, he hasn't yet turned up at the Forsyth this week. At every show the first fifteen minutes is furnishing an exhibition of patriotic enthusiasm such as could hardly be excelled.

It all starts with the Pathe weekly. About midway in the picture there is a flutter of a flag. That is the signal for the start of a demonstration. Last night the first wave of Old Glory began the applause. Then came pictures of the Seventeenth infantry entraining at El Paso for their trip back to Atlanta, and when the picture of George Hulett, the private who killed Cervantes, was shown there was a tremendous outburst.

Then came troops and the Statue of Liberty and a tumult that swept from pit to dome began. When the orchestra started into "The Star Spangled Banner" every person stood, and for a time the audience remained as silent as if taking part in a sacred ceremony. Then, when Old Glory fluttered to the center of the screen there was an outburst that was deafening. And when a slide calling recruits was screened to the tune of "Dixie," people literally rose up and yelled.

Because of the popularity of the national anthem and the equal fervor with which "Dixie" is greeted, Manager Hickman is keeping the two tunes as part of the regular program.

A second patriotic outburst comes at the end of this week's show when the Burton Holmes travel pictures show how Uncle Sam's middies are trained at Annapolis.

Ga. Tech Senior, Winner Of U. S. Army Commission, Goes to Fort Leavenworth

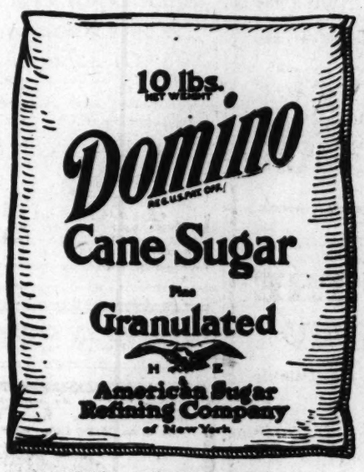

George R. Barker, a member of the senior class of Georgia Tech, who won a commission as second lieutenant in the United States cavalry in the examinations last winter, learned yesterday that he is assigned to the second provisional battalion at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

He graduated from Marist college in 1912 and was a second lieutenant there. He has been ordered to report for duty April 15.

SOCIETY

Music Study Club.

The regular meeting of the Music Study club will be held this morning in the Phillips & Crew building at 11 o'clock.

The final lecture in the series on the origin and development of the sonata will be given by Miss Evelyn Jackson and the subject will be the development and perfection of the sonata by Beethoven. In illustration Miss Genevieve Vorhees, violinist, and Mrs. Charles Chalmers, pianist, will play one of Beethoven's violin-piano sonatas. Miss Francis Stovall will play the "Moonlight" sonata. Miss Madeline Keipp will read an interesting paper on current topics.

The usual preliminary meetings will be held—the sight-reading department at 9 o'clock and the chorus at 9:30 o'clock.

Ellis-Newman.

A brilliant event of today will be the marriage of Miss Katherine Ellis and Mr. Henry Newman, which will take place at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis entertained the bridal party at buffet supper last night after the rehearsal.

"La Tosca" Analysis.

Mrs. Armand Carroll's lecture recital on Puccini's "La Tosca" will be an event of Thursday afternoon at Cable hall, the proceeds to go to Tallulah Falls Industrial school.

The Adelphean Club.

The Adelphean club will give a dance to its members and friends at Lane's studio Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock. Special music will be furnished and admission will be by card only.

Afternoon Reception.

A beautiful reception was that given yesterday by Judge and Mrs. William T. Newman at the Piedmont Driving club in honor of two distinguished visitors, Mr. Henry Turner Bailey, lecturer, art critic and editor of The School Arts Journal, of Boston, and Colonel A. R. Lawton, of Savannah, president of the Savannah Art association and the Telfair Art gallery.

The reception was held in the dining room, which was decorated with palms and a profusion of the pink and white dogwood now at its height of beauty.

A screen of palms and the starry white blossoms divided the spacious apartment, and beyond the screen were set buffet tables, handsome in appointment, from which dainty refreshments were served.

Their decoration was in big baskets of Easter lilies and they were lighted by crystal candelabra burning pink candles unshaded.

Mrs. Newman wore an elegant costume in black satin and lace.

She was assisted in entertaining by the following young ladies:

Miss Dorothy Arkwright, Miss Jennie Cooper of Philadelphia, Miss Margaret Grant, Miss Harriet McDaniel, Miss Patty McGehee, Miss Nina Hopkins, Miss Helen McCarey, Miss Martha McCarty, Miss Dorothy Harmon, Miss Marian Atchison, Miss Nellie Hood Ridley, Miss Eloise Robinson and Miss Caroline Blount.

Mrs. Boykin Entertains.

A happy initiation of Easter season entertainment was the afternoon tea given yesterday by Mrs. B. M. Boykin at her home, the occasion assembling one hundred and fifty guests to meet Miss Nellie Hood Ridley.

A profusion of crabapple blossoms filled the house with their delicate beauty, and pink and white were the colors prevailing in tasteful detail of hospitality.

In the dining room pink tulips and stock and a variety of spring bloom in pink and white formed the table centerpiece. A large silver vase was filled with these and four smaller vases around it alternated with pink-shaded candelabra.

Mrs. Boykin was handsomely gowned in black tulle embroidered in jet and sequins. Miss Ridley, the pretty bride-to-be, wore white taffeta and tulle with pink rosebuds, and her corsage bouquet was of valley lilies.

Mrs. Lute Hunnicutt and Miss Marie Ridley completed the handsome quartet forming the receiving party.

Mrs. Robert Ridley, Jr., and Mrs. Edward Charbonnier poured tea, and Mrs. Clarence Coppedge, Miss Mary Murphy and Miss Marie Dinkins served punch.

HIGHER TEMPERATURE IS FORECAST FOR TODAY

The same good weather which prevailed in Atlanta yesterday is forecasted for today, with perhaps a few more rays of sunshine and a few more degrees of heat.

The official forecast reads "Fair and warmer," all of which explains the tale.

As to just what the mercury did during the day Tuesday, the following table will show:

At 6 a. m. the mercury stood at 40.8; 8 a. m. 51; 10 a. m. 56; noon 62; 1 p. m. 64; 2 p. m. 66, which was the highest temperature of the day. At 7 p. m. the mercury had dropped to 62 degrees.

LOTS ON EASY TERMS FOR $59 GOING FAST

Opening of Forest Hill Park at Hapeville Draws Many Home-Seekers.

Real estate seems to have taken on new life, particularly in circles adjacent to Hapeville, since the establishment and opening of Forest Hill park within the city limits of this pretty suburb of Atlanta.

The fact that the property is situated on Stewart avenue (Dixie highway) lends a special added attractiveness to the property, and is making it sought not only by scores of Atlantans, who have visited it and have bought lots, but to large numbers over the south. Many letters of inquiry have been received at the office of the company, 26 West Alabama street, from all over the southern section, some coming from as far away as the state of Virginia.

The developers of this property, the J. W. Holloway company, seem to be sparing in neither pains nor money to make of this new park an ideal place of residence. The tract itself, which comprises about 1,000 building lots, lies almost perfect for the location of pretty homes. A great deal of it is covered with beautiful forest, and in the course of development, much of the pretty shade is preserved. Where shade trees are needed they are being set out. Streets are being fast graded through the property, and with the added attraction of a pretty lake near the center, to be surrounded by suitable driveways, those who are seeking the lots with a view to making the park their future home, will find much to add to their comfort and pleasure. Water and sewerage are now in close proximity to the property.

The lots—or the great bulk of them—are being sold on easy terms for $59 with a six months' subscription to The Constitution. This is the only manner in which they can be secured. A few corner lots and choice locations are slightly higher. Full information can be secured at the office, 26 West Alabama street, or by phoning Main 5293.

OWLS WILL HOLD INFORMAL DANCE THURSDAY NIGHT

The local order of Owls will hold an informal dance Thursday night at the Red Men's Wigwam on Central avenue. The proceeds from these dances go to the benefit fund raised for the widows and orphans of the order. Invitations may be secured from the president, J. Ed Walker, or of any of the following: J. N. Turner, Fred P. Gibbs, Charles C. Ray, John H. Rousey. Music will be furnished by James orchestra.

PANNKOKE IS RELEASED BY FEDERAL OFFICIALS

Following a minute investigation on the part of federal authorities, Dr. H. Pannkoke, arrested at West Point, Ga., on charges of attempting to incite negroes to an uprising, was released from the Atlanta police barracks Tuesday night on orders from federal officials.

According to this department, Dr. Pannkoke, though said to be radical in his views, was not actively engaged in any such undertaking.

He was brought to Atlanta from West Point Sunday by federal officials at the request of the mayor, who feared that, if left there, he might be severely dealt with.

Coleman Akina, the negro arrested at Covington on a "treason" charge, is still held.

FRATERNAL AID UNION MEETS HERE IN CONVENTION

The Fifth district convention of the Fraternal Aid union, a fraternal beneficiary society of national extent, held its meeting at Knights of Pythias hall yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

W. C. Peebles, past president of Jewell lodge No. 713, presided over the convention, with Oliver Mixon, treasurer of Atlanta lodge No. 101, as secretary.

The address of welcome was delivered by Newman Laser, southern states manager, and responses by Judge Alvin M. Douglas, Birmingham, Ala.; Colonel W. H. Newbold, Chester, S. C., and Charles C. Gillett, of Atlanta.

Approximately one hundred of the delegates were in attendance.

The following were elected delegates to attend the special supreme lodge session which will convene in St. Louis, Mo., on May 8:

C. C. Gilleti, Atlanta, Ga.; Alvin M. Douglas, Birmingham, Ala.; Dr. N. Wooldridge, Tampa, Fla.; Marion Nelson, Rock Hill, S. C.; James T. Pearson, Anderson, S. C.; Charles W. Morris, Rome, Ga.; William L. Cahall, Mobile, Ala., and F. W. Whiteside, Ocala, Fla.

A luncheon was tendered the delegates at the Winecoff hotel, followed by automobile rides over the city to points of interest.

"Resista" Makes Converts Of The Constitution Force As to Her Strange Power

Skeptics in The Constitution building were convinced yesterday at noon when "Resista," the blue-eyed slip of a marvel who headlines the Grand vaudeville bill, visited the local rooms and defied the brawniest reporter, printer, pressman or artist to budge her.

Various volunteers from The Constitution force, ranging from the press room through the engraving department, business office and art department, and on up to the photographer's gallery on the sixth floor, in turn tried to lift the girl phenom. But to no avail.

With utmost ease the puniest office boy lifted the 19-year-old girl from the floor to a chair when "Resista" relaxed her resistance, but once on the chair, and all her powers of resistance called into play, the most muscular pressman from the basement couldn't move her from her feet.

"PLATTSBURG MANUAL" FINDS READY SALE HERE

"The Plattsburg Manual," a handbook for federal training camps for army men, has been placed on sale in a number of Atlanta leading book stores. The manual is compiled by Lieutenant O. O. Ellis, U. S. A., and Lieutenant E. B. Carey, U. S. A. It was put on the market only about a month ago and is now in its fourth edition. It is published by the Century company, New York.

The book, according to a foreword written by Major General Leonard Wood, will prove very useful to men contemplating attendance at Plattsburg or any army training camp. Many copies have been sold to Atlantans who intend entering the service.

TWO SHELLMAN HOMES DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Shellman, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Fire of unknown origin today destroyed the residence owned and occupied by Mrs. S. E. Cheney and another owned by J. D. Leary and occupied by Mrs. Ellerbee. The loss was about five thousand dollars, partly covered by insurance. Some furniture was saved from both houses, but it was greatly damaged by removal.

FEDERAL AGENTS SEEK ALL WIRELESS OUTFITS

Several in Atlanta Under Surveillance Probably Be Closed by U. S.

Full investigation of the ownership, operation or interest in any wireless station in the United States or on any insular possession is receiving the special attention of agents of the department of justice. Through the wireless stations it is known that much information can be carried which might prove detrimental to the government in the war. In the southeastern district, composed of Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina, Alabama and East Tennessee, every wireless outfit, whether merely a receiving station or a receiving and transmitting station has been listed by agents working under L. J. Bailey, director of the work of this department in the section named.

Each station is under surveillance, and the agents are merely awaiting orders of the navy department to close them. Every section of the country is being searched for wireless outfits, and it is requested that anyone who knows where such an outfit is to communicate such information to the department.

"We think we have them all," declared one of the officials Tuesday, "but there is, of course, the possibility that some stations may have been overlooked. For this reason we would appreciate any information concerning any of them so that we may check each record we have, or investigate any station not now on our lists."

It is known that Tuesday six stations in and around Atlanta were investigated by local agents. They will all probably be closed by the government except those used for its own purposes.

PAPERHANGERS STRIKE FOR INCREASED PAY

More than fifty paperhangers, members of the Decorators and Painters' Union of America, local No. 576, went on a strike in Atlanta yesterday. The reason given for the strike is that the national union failed to recognize an appeal of the local union for an increase in the present wage scale, which is now $4 per day. Love Carraway is president of the local organization.

Local paper hanging concerns, it is said, have attempted to bring paperhangers from other parts of the state here on the assurance of plenty of work, and the striking union has retaliated by inserting ads in the local papers warning their brother members to stay away from Atlanta until the strike is settled.

There are three organizations of the Decorators and Painters' union in Atlanta, but Local union, No. 576, is the only one that is striking. All three unions are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. George P. Staffnall, president of union No. 193, said that this strike was called before congress banished strikes while the country was at war, and will not affect the effort of the government to put the state in an efficient condition for war.

GEORGIA MARBLE INTERESTS MERGE

Second Largest Company in United States Formed at Meeting Here—Sam Tate Elected President.

Consolidation of all the marble interests of Georgia in one organization, to be known as the Georgia Marble company, was effected yesterday at a meeting of the officers of the different companies in Atlanta. The new company will represent a capital of many millions and will be the second largest of its kind in this country, the Vermont Marble company taking first place.

The consolidation follows a former merger some time ago of two of Georgia's largest marble interests, the Georgia Marble company, of Tate, and the Southern Marble company. To these have been added the Amicorola company, of Ball Ground, thus taking in all the quarries in the state.

All finishing plants in the state are likewise included in the new organization, namely, the Blue Ridge Marble company, of Nelson, Ga.; the G. B. Sickles company, of Tate, and the Kennesaw company, of Marietta. In the future these plants, which in the past have done much the same work, will each specialize along one definite line of finishing.

Sam Tate, one of Georgia's leading financiers, was elected president. Following are the other officers: Five vice president, Alex Anderson, H. L. Litchfield, H. H. Miles, A. V. Cortelyou and Walter Tate. R. L. McClain was elected treasurer, G. M. Atherton assistant treasurer, and W. A. Richardson secretary.

The board of directors is as follows: Sam Tate, T. C. Erwin, John Tye, A. V. Cortelyou, Alex Anderson, J. E. Massey, Walter Tate, H. L. Litchfield, T. V. Buchanan, G. M. Atherton, H. H. Miles, W. A. Richardson and R. L. McClain.

Head officials of the company will be at Tate, Ga.

CLIFF WALKER TO PASS ON FLAVORING EXTRACTS

Following his statement of Sunday upon the meaning of the state "bone dry" prohibition law, Governor Harris was Monday in receipt of inquiries as to the restrictions of the new law upon the manufacture of flavoring extracts containing alcohol as a preservative. Some of these inquirers seemed to have the idea that the governor's opinion upon the interpretation of the law in this particular would be final and they asked for ten days' notice before the governor made a decision in order that they might appear before him.

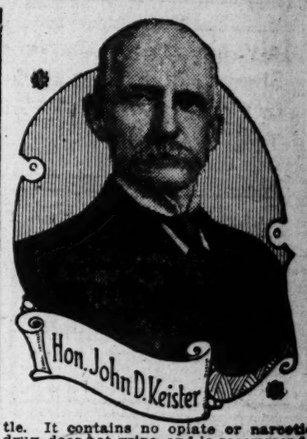

The inquiries will be submitted to the attorney general. The informal opinion of the attorney general is that, under the new law, such flavoring extracts cannot be manufactured.

FEUD OF NEIGHBORS RESULTS IN KILLING

Savannah, Ga., April 10.—Near Thunderbolt, a few miles from Savannah, this afternoon Thomas White was shot and instantly killed by Stephen Nash, who surrendered to the police. The men were neighbors and there had been a good many quarrels between them, it is said.

This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation, or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly everyone experiences with more or less frequency, in the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative, mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

Convenience for mothers of bottle-babies

Mothers of bottle-babies often deny themselves pleasure trips on account of trouble of preparing the baby's food.

Mothers who feed their babies Merrell-Soule Powdered Modified Milk know that it's simply a matter of mixing the powder with water — and it's ready.

MERRELL-SOULE

is "live" fresh cow's milk with the indigestible parts removed. It keeps without ice. It is the nearest thing to mother's milk that you can possibly give your baby.

Merrell-Soule Powdered Modified Milk comes in packages, enough for two weeks' feeding.

To Doctors: When this milk powder is mixed with the proper amount of water, the liquid milk will answer to all the tests of fresh "live" milk.

$15,000 SUIT FILED AGAINST BAPTIST CHURCH

Central Baptist Church Sued for Alleged Indebtedness to Carters.

A suit for alleged indebtedness amounting to $15,000, was filed in superior court yesterday afternoon by E. V. Carter, as guardian of Josephine Rankin Carter and Mary Craig Carter, against the Central Baptist church, its treasurer, the chairman of the board of trustees and a number of endorsers of a promissory note on which the suit was based.

It is charged that the church, and endorsers of the $15,000 Carter note: S. F. Monerief, J. M. Moore, treasurer; Z. Webb, J. D. Cameron, J. C. Harrison, chairman board of trustees; G. R. Sparks, W. O. Smith and H. D. Sorrels, are indebted to the plaintiffs through having borrowed $15,000, for which they gave a promissory note in June, 1912, payable four years from that date.

The petitioners pray for a specific judgment by the superior court, and a lien against the real estate belonging to the church and involved in the loan. The suit kept attaches to the sheriff's office busy throughout the day serving the numerous parties to the procedure.

COLLEGES TO STAR AT LAST OFFERING OF THE ALKAHEST

The date of the offering of the last Alkahest attraction for the season has been changed to Friday night, April 13, instead of Thursday night, as previously announced, in order to accommodate the Old Fiddlers' convention. A brilliant array of talent will appear as offering "College Night" at the Auditorium-Armory. It is urged that patrons of the bureau take special note of the change.

"College Night" will be presented with representatives of three colleges, musical organizations, glee clubs, etc. One of these, and an especial offering, will be the two piano offerings of Misses Marjorie Bush and Martha Gault, artists of Shorter college.

Other attractions, and of equal merit, are the glee club of Agnes Scott college, composed of 25 girls, and the Tech Mandolin and Glee club, both of which organizations are well known in Atlanta and throughout the south.

The girls' college club is under direction of Mrs. Gussie O'Neal Johnson and is declared to be better this year than ever before in its history.

College girls and college boys will attend en masse to enjoy the music of their organizations, and special reservations have been made for them.

Tickets for the performance are now on sale at the Cable Piano company and at the Alkahest office. Prices are 50 and 25 cents.

Supreme Court Rules Against Byrd Company In State Printing Case

The supreme court of Georgia handed down a decision Tuesday which had the effect of awarding the state's 1917 printing contract to the Index Printing company, of Atlanta.

When the state printing board awarded the contract to the Index concern last year, the Index bid being lower by some $10,000 than that of its competitor, the Byrd Printing company, the Byrd company sought an injunction against awarding the contract to the Index concern on the ground that State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain and Attorney General Clifford Walker owned stock in the Index company. It was shown before Judge Ben Hill, of Fulton superior court, that these statehouse officials had disposed of their stock before the contract was awarded and Judge Hill declined to grant the injunction. The supreme court upheld him.

174 Suits to Close at $20.00

Serges : Gabardines Flannels : Tricotines Poiret Twills

We've seen the same thing happen so often before that it was not a coincidence that put us in touch with the manufacturer who had these suits at the last minute —one day too late.

The average suitmaker, it seems, never knows when to quit taking orders for garments to be shipped on a specified date. He takes the order and apparently trusts to luck that he may be able to turn the goods out, and every once in a while loses the race with time.

We've seen it happen so often just before Easter, and have so often profited by the experience ourselves that we stationed our New York buyer just at the outside, as it were, waiting to grasp a bunch of suits that the maker promised to ship in time to reach the destination in time for the Easter trade.

As usual, the slip came. This maker had 174 suits left on his hands that some dealer refused on account of the delay.

And, here they are---

No need to dwell on newness or desirability or anything of that kind. No need to delve into adjectives; the incident in itself is convincing enough for you to recognize the extraordinary opportunity to buy a suit for very much less than its worth.

This much we WILL tell you: If the suits had reached the man who originally placed the order his customers would have paid about $37.50 for choice.

The sizes, colors and quality of each we tabulate for your information before you reach the store.

New York, April 10.—The cotton market showed subsiding activity and excitement today, with fluctuations nervous and irregular. May, which was relatively firm, sold from 20.35 to 20.40, rallied to 20.84 and closed at 20.68, or 18 points net higher, while July and later deliveries showed a net decline of 1 to 5 points, with the final tone steady.

The market opened steady at an advance of 16 to 30 points, with July selling at 20.60 and October at 19.27 on relatively firm cables, apprehensions or unsettled weather east of the river, and the failure of the map to show desired rains in the southwest. This advance met a good deal of realizing, largely from Wall street sources, while there was some further western selling of the sort brought in by yesterday's break in the wheat market. There also seemed to be southern selling here accompanied by reports that holders were offering spots freely at the higher prices and before the end of the morning active months sold 10 to 29 points net lower, with July touching 20.43 and October 18.20. Pressure then diminished and later fluctuations were very irregular, with the market showing spurts of strength which seemed to grow chiefly out of the near months situation. At times there was urgent buying by May shorts, who found very few sellers around the ring and forced the price up 44 points from the low level of the morning. Later deliveries rallied in sympathy, selling about 11 to 13 points net higher during the middle of the afternoon, but the improvement was not fully maintained, and after the first hour general business was quiet, with traders evidently inclined to wait for fresh developments.

As the daylight saving plan took effect in Liverpool today, the market there closed as the local market opened, which naturally restricted arbitrage business. Private cables attributed the strength abroad to continental buying of both old and new crop months, and the houses with Liverpool connections bought July and October here during the early trading.

Spot cotton quiet, 21.05.

In New Orleans.

New Orleans, April 10.—Liquidation was the keynote of the cotton market here today and while no very wide declines were recorded, there was none of the bulging tendency seen in yesterday's early trading. Offerings of long cotton were liberal and they were none too well absorbed.

Around the opening prices were 12 to 24 points up, in response to better cables than due, but this improvement was met by heavy selling, which soon declined. Gradually prices fell away until they were 9 to 22 points under yesterday's final figures. In the afternoon there were recoveries and even small net advances, but rises were not well sustained and last prices for the day showed a net loss of 5 to 8 points.

The reduction of 25 points in spot quotations and reports of eagerness to sell by spot owners worked against a steady tone in the afternoon.

Private forecasts of rain for Texas led to some selling and the dry weather in the eastern half of the belt was regarded favorably. Sentiment was much less bullish than it has been and many brokers expressed the belief that recent advances had been too rapid and had resulted in weakening the technical position of the market.

Spot cotton steady, 25 points off. Sales 1,151; to arrive 200. Good ordinary, 18.62; strict good ordinary, 19.12; low middling, 19.62; strict low middling, 19.81; middling, 20.00; strict middling, 20.19; good middling, 20.37; strict good middling, 20.58. Receipts, 4,144; stock, 370,565.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, April 10.—(Special.)—Although heavy general selling occurred here today, the market resumed its advance as soon as offerings lessened. On the basis of 20 cents, southern holders are freer sellers, but notwithstanding, demand still holds the upper-hand. The general opinion, while expecting wide and sudden fluctuations, continues in favor of higher prices for cotton.

BOND, M'ENANY CO.

New York, April 10.—(Special.)—The market continued nervous today with very wide fluctuations, but only a moderate volume of business. News that an explosion had occurred at a prominent munitions plant near Philadelphia, caused quite a sharp decline in the market, from which prices rallied to about last night's closing level. Weather conditions are more favorable, and clearer and warmer weather is predicted for the eastern belt, while there is some possibility of rain in the southwest. An earlier spot basis is reported from the south, but the freight congestion continues so great that there has been little reflection of this fact in the price of May deliveries, which are still at a substantial premium. The unsettlement in the securities market has somewhat checked the recent speculative enthusiasm, although the tendency on the part of the local trade is still, as it has been all season, to expect further advances.

Dry Goods.

New York, April 10.—Cotton goods were very strong today, large purchase being made for commercial and government use. Yarns were higher and active. Men's wear is being held firm and mail markets under control awaiting government action on military orders. Reports were current that a tax was to be placed on raw silk for revenue purposes.

WAR BRIDE STOCKS DECLINE IN VALUE

General Unloading of Munition and Equipment Issues Results From Steps Against Undue Profits.

New York, April 10.—Measures already adopted by the federal government to prevent inflation of values were again an important factor in today's stock market, precipitating further liquidation and short selling of the better known war shares. An increasing realization that war contracts will yield but moderate profits caused a general unloading of munition and equipment issues.

Rails were the chief element of strength, some high-grade stocks scoring material gains in the intermediate session, but these were largely, or wholly, forfeited in the more urgent offerings of the last hour. Delaware and Hudson was weak at all times, making an extreme recession of 8¼ points to 119½ in anticipation of the company's poor annual statement.

United States Steel manifested more resistance than most other industrials, declining only 1½ to 108⅝, while Bethlehem Steel new stock fell 5½ to 123, with 2 to 4 points for Crucible and Sloss-Sheffield steels, Virginia Iron and Gulf States Steel.

Petroleums, metals, sugars, motors and leathers fell off 1 to 3 points with 4¾ for Baldwin Locomotive and 8½ for Sears-Roebuck. Utilities were inactive except for the gas issues, Ohio Gas losing 3 points.

Shippings were irregular at the outset, but strengthened in the latter dealings. Gains in rails were limited to the leaders, some of the secondary or inactive issues losing 1 to 2 points. Total sales amounted to 760,000 shares.

An advance in sterling exchange with cables quoted at the highest price in almost a year, was the outstanding feature of the foreign exchange market. Francs, rubles and lires were firm.

The new high record in unfilled orders reported by the United States Steel corporation for March occasioned no surprise and failed to stimulate any demand for industrial securities.

Bonds were again irregular, the international or war group showing general strength, while domestic issues, rails as well as industrials, made variable concessions. Total sales, par value, aggregated $8,480,000.

United States bonds were lower by fractions to a point on call except the registered 2's, which made a slight gain on actual sales.

Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey for Coughs & Colds

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have bladder trouble—Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—(adv.)

QUICK RATE INCREASE URGED BY RAILROADS

Traffic Officials Want Advance in Effect by June 1.

Washington, April 10.—The chief railroads of the country, seeking to hasten proceedings in their applications for general increases of 15 per cent in freight rates, today notified the interstate commerce commission that should the increased rates be authorized the roads would accept a reduction, without contest in the courts, at some later date when the present emergency should have passed.

The roads also urged the commission to grant the increases not later than June 1, next, declaring that the present need was imperative and that they were facing a situation growing more serious with every day of delay.

Representatives of southern and western lines agreed unreservedly to accept any order to reduce rates generally that the commission might see fit to issue later, should the present day of soaring operating costs soon pass. Eastern lines sought to couple with their stipulation a condition that the roads would accept such a reduction unless it were virtually confiscatory.

Technicalities apparently in the way of authorization of a general increase were discussed. In the case of anthracite coal, it was pointed out that the statutory two-year life time of the commission's latest order fixing rates would not expire for some time yet, and without suspension of the rule no general advance could be made on this commodity rate. Other commodity rates are similarly affected.

Indications are that one of two courses probably will be followed: The railroads will be permitted to file their proposed increases effective at once and they will be suspended for thirty or sixty days, or they will be permitted to file them effective June 1 and in the interim hearings will be held to determine their reasonableness.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Announcement of two new apartments to be erected and of an important business lease on Marietta street to the H. W. Johns-Manville company, of New York city, featured in real estate news yesterday.

Elsewhere in these columns is found announcement that the present Ponce de Leon apartments, at the southeast corner of Peachtree street and Ponce de Leon avenue, will be duplicated, the new building to be erected on Ponce de Leon avenue, just beyond the present one.

Plans are being completed for a new apartment at the northeast corner of North avenue and West Peachtree street, costing $45,000. The Fulton County Home Builders will be the contractors. This building is to be three stories, and of hollow tile and brick construction. Work will commence in a few days on tearing down the present buildings on this site, known as the old "Tupper Home."

Johns-Manville Lease.

Cannon Forbes, as southern manager for the H. W. Johns-Manville company, has signed a three-year lease on the double building at Nos. 138-140 Marietta street, dating from August 1. This building is at present occupied by the Beaudry Motor company. Extensive improvements and alterations will be made by August for the new lessee. The Greenfield estate owns the property. Further details of this lease are found elsewhere.

Hanson Motor Car Company Permit.

A permit for $35,000 was issued to the Hanson Motor Car company Tuesday to build a one-story brick building fronting on the Atlanta and West Point railroad belt line at Gammage's crossing, near Fort McPherson.

Warren C. Powell is the architect in charge, and the Pittman Construction company, contractors.

The building is to be a long, one-story affair, of brick construction, and having two "L" wings at each end. The width will be 40 feet, the length 300 feet, fronting on the railroad, and one wing will be 250 feet, and the other 200 feet.

The Hanson Motor Car company will manufacture the Hanson "Six."

George Hanson, well-known automobile man, and Arthur Burdett, of the Burdett Realty company, are behind the project.

Convent to Be Altered.

Adair & Weinmeister took a permit for $5,500 Tuesday to remodel and make extensive alterations to the old convent building at No. 273 South Pryor street.

COST OF LOCAL WANT ADS IN THE CONSTITUTION

One time	10c a line
Three times	8 1-3c a line	Each Issue
Seven times	7c a line
Thirty times	6c a line
Ninety times	5c a line

No advertisement accepted for less than two lines. Count six ordinary words to each line.

Discontinuance of advertising must be in writing. It will not be accepted by phone. This protects your interests as well as ours.

The Constitution will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

If you can't bring or send your Want Ad, phone Main 5000 or Atlanta 5001.

Courteous operators, thoroughly familiar with rates, rules and classifications, will give you complete information. And if you wish, they will assist you in wording your want ad to make it most effective.

Accounts opened for ads by telephone to accommodate you if your name is in the telephone directory. Other want ads taken by telephone are to be paid for immediately upon publication, bill to be presented by mail or solicitor the same day printed.

EVERY HOME HAS USE FOR CONSTITUTION WANT ADS.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

FOR SALE
STOCK of DRY GOODS, SHOES, NOTIONS, ETC.—PUT IN YOUR BID

FOR PURPOSE of immediate sale, the stock of dry goods, shoes, notions and fixtures at No. 155-157 Edgewood Ave., Atlanta, Ga., are offered for sale to merchants and dealers. Bids for these goods, the stock as a whole, with or without the fixtures, or any separate lot of the stock, or for the fixtures as a whole, or in part, will be received by the undersigned from now until 2 p. m., Friday, April 13th. The stock has been carefully invoiced as scheduled below, and is offered and sold subject to exact amount of stock and figures being verified, stock to be removed by purchaser with promptitude.

Lot (1) Dry Goods	$2,960.89
Lot (2) Men's, Women's and Misses' Shoes and Slippers	$2,724.70
Lot (3) Notions, Laces and Embroideries, Ladies' and Misses' Hosiery, Caps, etc.	$3,884.90
Lot (5) Ladies', Misses' and Children's Ready-to-Wear Garments, Dresses, Skirts, Coats, Waists, Underwear, etc.	$2,801.68
Lot (6) Gents' Furnishings, Hats, Caps, Shirts, Underwear, Half-Hose, etc.	$2,908.98
Lot (7) All Store Fixtures	$3,862.46
Total	$20,920.47

TERMS OF SALE are cash, but to responsible party, if desired, terms to some extent can be arranged.

THE BASIS of any bid submittted shall be at a stated amount on the dollar, as invoiced above, enclosed in sealed envelope, accompanied by check for 10 per cent of your bid as earnest money, the same to be returned to you promptly if your bid is rejected, said check to be made payable to John D. Muldrew, Agent, or order, and enclosure addressed and delivered to the undersigned by 2 p. m. April 13th.

IMMEDIATE action will be taken on each bid submitted. This is a good, clean stock of seasonable, medium-grade merchandise, and if bought now in open market, would be at quite an advance in prices, and presents a rare opportunity to merchants in Atlanta and throughout the state. All that is asked is a reasonable bid. It is up to you to lose or take advantage of this opportunity.

THE STORE will be kept closed, but a representative will be on the inside to admit you for inspection of the stock from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily, by card to be obtained here. We have an experienced man ready to unite with one other in a bid for the entire stock and fixtures, with view to entering business in Atlanta, or at some other good point.

Thor

Vacuum Cleaner

The most successful demonstration we have ever seen of a Vacuum Cleaner is this wonderful Thor Machine which is on exhibition here, where it furnishes entertainment for many men and women every day.

An arrangement with the makers of this machine enables us to offer it for a limited time at the special price of $22.50, and on the most convenient terms—$2 per month.

Every housekeeper who sees it glide over the floor, taking the dust and dirt out of the carpets and rugs and picking up the loose strings lying around, cannot resist the temptation to order one right away.

This special price and terms can only be offered during the month of April. Come to the store and see it demonstrated.

FIDDLERS MAKE MERRY IN YE OLD BOYS' WAY

Spectators, Absorbed in Ante-Bellum Breakdowns, Forgot About War.

The old-time fiddlers were at their best at the Auditorium last night, and that's saying a great deal. All of the old favorites were gathered into this extraordinary setting of bandana handkerchiefs, rolled-up breeches, sunburned and whiskered faces, exuberant good will and fiddles. "Fiddlin'" John Carson told of his family troubles by means of improvised couplets and sympathetic strains of the viol—(I mean fiddle, forgive me). The audience was fairly moved to tears when he sang in plaintive tones, "All My Friends Have Left Me, 'Cept That Old Dog of Mine," and was tickled to death when he sang, "Great God! How the Money Rolls In!"

Getting at the Cause

It is the duty of the auditor to tell you just what your business condition is.

If it is not what it should be, you want to know WHY so that you may apply the remedy.

You are entitled to know these things—they are what you most need and what you pay for.

We give you an audit that not only presents the facts, but shows the causes of any trouble that may exist.

and "Another Little Drink Wouldn't Do Me No Harm."

Director "Aleck" Smart.

Professor Aleck Smart, the director, drank out of a gourd from the old oaken bucket on the stand, bowed to the audience and announced that he would sing the "Famous Eleven-Dollar Song," which, he said, derived its name from a pathetic little incident. When he first attempted to sing it, he said, he was offered a dollar to begin, and after he had begun, he was offered ten more to stop.

When the Sogum band from Mud creek was announced there was evident a generous wave of sincere approbation. Their selections won't be forgotten soon. There was novelty in them, for who ever heard before in this section, "Johnny Had a Good Thing, and Saved Me Some!"

John Singley's laughing song proved a distinct feature, and as he repeated it amid loud shrieks of sincere laughter, "I'se Gwine Down to Donny's House, and I Ain't Got Long to Tarry," there was much to provoke a ready response from the audience.

Bob Bagley, the well-to-do member of the organization, although somewhat advanced in years, danced with all the vigor and grace of youth, and the steps were too old-fashioned for the younger set to recognize.

Lick Skillet Orchestra.

Other numbers, all excellent, all amusing, were the Lick Skillet orchestra from Kennesaw mountain, which played "The Devil in the Weed Patch," "The Old Hen Cackle and the Rooster Crow," "Billy in the Low Ground" and "My Las' Gol' Dollar's Done Gone;" the Silvey band, which played "Rocker Mountain Pout," "The Old Dray Horse Out in the Wilderness" and other selections; S. L. Norris, who convinced the audience that he had become acquainted with the steadfast characteristics of a mule, with his "Whoa, Mule, Whoa!" A. V. Poole, the well-known, one-armed fiddler, who played several selections, among them "The Windy Mornin';" Riley Puckett, the blind and gifted banjo player; Mr. Smith, from Rabun county, who, according to Professor Smart, was enjoying his first visit away from home, and who played "Black-Eyed Susan," and "The Soldier's Joy;" Ben Day, of Carroll county; Colonel William Hopkins, who played "The Old Gray Eagle," and "The Irish Washerwoman;" the Bridges boys, the famous chanters, and many others, all meritorious.

The old-time fiddlers were given a surprise when a bevy of pretty Elizabeth Mather school girls appeared in a nearby box, bedecked in white, each with a flag for a bow tie, and serenaded them with several pleasing selections. Professor Smart thanked them heartily for their part in the program.

By all means go to see the old-time fiddlers if you want to enjoy a genuine treat. There are two nights left.

COUNTY POLICE SEIZE 75 GALLONS IN A FORD

Five county policemen, headed by Lieutenant Carroll, captured nearly 75 gallons of warm booze on the Piedmont road, near Peachtree road, last night.

According to the officers, the whisky was found in a Ford car on its way to town, driven by two white men, Charlie Pearce and Charlie Bearden. It was all in gallon oil cans, and the whisky, car and men, were all taken into custody. Under the law the car itself is now subject to confiscation by the state.

Semi-Central Real Estate

Anyone placing property on sale at this period must expect to sell at less than value.

This is a Buyer's Market, Not a Seller's

In spite of that, owners of good semi-central and income property insist on an immediate sale. These are confidential matters; locality not to be disclosed over the phone.

Price and Dependability

We have made it a point never to swerve from our course in offering only dependable clothes to Atlanta's men and young men.

Of one thing you may be sure--any suit we offer at any price will be service-giving, shape-retaining and satisfactory.

The measure of clothes at EISEMAN'S depends not on price, but on quality. For twenty-seven years have impressed this fact on Atlanta's men--that helps account for their popularity.

See our stock at its best--now, while the range is complete. You'll have nothing to regret; nothing to promise. We're inviting you only to look.
